Germany Decides to Drop Ickes Protest 'In Spirit of Christmas'

NAZIS 'BETTER CHRISTIANS,' BERLIN SAYS

Propaganda Minister Declares 'Incident' Officially Closed Because of Holiday.

PITTMAN GETS LASHING

Senator's Blast at Germany, Japan Called 'Disturbance Of Christmas Peace.'

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN — A propaganda ministry spokesman today declared the "Ickes incident" was closed diplomatically after it culminated in the United States' rejection of a German protest against a speech by the secretary of the interior.

Though regretting that Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles' rejection "left a sting behind," the spokesman said the protest was couched in such terms that diplomatic action ended with the strong American retort.

No Official 'Reaction.'

Not even diplomatic quarrels must interfere with the Christmas spirit, so there will be no official "reaction," said the spokesman, adding that "We Nazis are regarded by many as heathen, yet I think we are better Christians than some other people."

At the same time Senator Key Pittman's four-point statement expressing disapproval of the Berlin and Tokyo governments elicited an angry reply from the officially inspired commentary service, Deutscher Dienst.

Under the caption "disturbance of the Christmas peace," the service said:

"Senator Pittman's declaration constitutes a carefully timed brutal disturbance of the Christmas peace.

Completely 'Irresponsible.'

"What cynical baseness and at the same time what impudent smugness is apparent from these utterances by a man who, as committee chairman (of the senate foreign relations committee), occupies a position of responsibility, yet who acts with complete irresponsibility.

"He didn't ask the American people, yet he considers himself authorized to insult a great European power in such an unbelievable manner.

"After all he must know he insults the German people in its entirety and in all its strata when he arrogates to himself such an expression of opinion."

Christmas Joy Grips City on Holiday Eve

Spirit of Goodwill in Air as Mansfield Prepares for Two-Day Observance; Travel Heaviest In Years.

The holiday spirit of joy and goodwill prevailed in Mansfield today as the city's tempo speeded up in final preparations for a two-day observance of Christmas tomorrow and Monday.

Activities and planning of recent weeks reached a climax today, and tomorrow the city will halt its daily routine to pay reverence to the Christ-child who was born in Bethlehem centuries ago.

There was a new spirit in the air today as last-minute shoppers swarmed downtown streets in a final search for gifts. Crowds on the streets were more friendly as if the mad rush for a living had been forgotten.

Trains and buses brought hundreds of travelers back to the city last night and today for the homecoming that always marks Christmas. Holiday travel by train and bus, which reached a peak last night, is the heaviest in years, transportation officials said.

Extra Trains Operating.

All important trains on the Pennsylvania railroad were operating three and four sections last night and today to accommodate the heavy traffic, J. E. Young, Mansfield passenger agent said.

Bus lines operated extra buses to important points, and highways were jammed with motorists bound for home or to visit relatives in other cities.

In homes all over the city colored lights carried the cheerful greeting of Christmas, and gifts were piled high under Christmas trees as old and young alike

ACCORD NEAR ON AMERICA PACT

Brazil Expected to Agree to Terms of Pan-American Plan Today.

LIMA, Peru —(U.P.)— Delegates to the eighth Pan-American conference hoped to announce to the world tonight the acceptance by the 21 American republics of a declaration of continental solidarity.

It was planned that the announcement should be made at a plenary meeting of the conference, and delegates were already packing their baggage in hope that they could start home over the week-end.

Twenty nations already had signed "the declaration of Lima," reaffirming the continental solidarity of American republics, and their determination to make their solidarity effective in event of a threat of their peace, security or territorial integrity.

Brazil alone had not signed. A final revision of the draft declaration, making it acceptable to Argentina, caused Dr. Afranio De Millo Franco, Brazilian delegate to withhold his signature on what he said were purely technical grounds.

FRIENDS PLAY SANTA TO JIMMY

A check for $100—the gift of county and city employes and other benefactors—was presented to Jimmy Leinley, blind proprietor of the confection stand in the courthouse at noon today.

Made up by contributions from more than 150 persons, the fund will help to pay the expense of a major operation for Jimmy at General hospital last month.

Walter Underwood, deputy clerk of the election board, and Deputy Sheriff Frank E. Robinson headed the campaign. Charles Payne, deputy county treasurer, presented the check to Jimmy, who knew nothing of the campaign in his behalf.

SPREAD CHEER TO CITY NEEDY

Muster-Cheers Distribute 10 Tons of Food to 550 Needy Families.

Mansfield's Christmas spirit went out today to the city's unfortunate families.

In hundreds of homes previously barren tables were laden with holiday goodies and children's stockings were filled with toys and sweets as the city's welfare agencies made good their promise to say "Merry Christmas" with food, clothing and added comfort and happiness.

Men, women and children from nearly 550 Mansfield families filed through the Salvation Army headquarters to receive well-filled baskets of food for the Christmas as the Three Muster-Cheers distributed approximately 10 tons of supplies.

Take Baskets to Aged, Blind.

Before 9 a. m. today, 102 baskets of food containing enough to make an ample Christmas dinner for a family were distributed to the city's aged residents, the blind and crippled.

SADDEN POPE

'Vexations' Between Vatican, Italy Deplored In Address.

VATICAN CITY—(AP)—Pope Pius XI in his Christmas address to his cardinals expressed his "bitter sadness" at vexations in relations between the Vatican and Italian government.

These vexations, he said, were "mistreatment" of Catholic action, which is an organization of laymen, and "wounding of the concordat" between the Holy See and Italy by Premier Mussolini's promulgation of a law forbidding marriages between Aryans and nonaryans.

He declared that "vexations" had been erected against Ildefonso Cardinal Schuster, archbishop of Milan, as "guilty of speech and teaching which comes within his pastoral duties and of which we can only approve."

Columbia University Scientist Dies After Laboratory Blast.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Burns suffered in an explosion at the Columbia University laboratory caused the death late last night of John E. Wertz, 24-year-old scientist.

Gas exploded while Wert was working in the laboratory yesterday. Clyde A. Hutchinson received burns and lacerations when he went to Wertz' assistance.

Maybe We'll Have A Slightly White Christmas After All

The weather bureau came up today with a promise of snow—enough to provide at least a pale white Christmas.

The forecast predicted snow flurries, starting tonight in the northern part of the state. By tomorrow afternoon, they should be general over Ohio, said the forecast.

And it will be colder—much colder — over the holiday, so there's little chance that the snow will melt, when and if we really get it.

Only a scattered bit of snow was still left in Mansfield from Thursday night's fall.

Temperatures stayed close to freezing. The low for the past 24 hours was 29, and the high 35. The reading at noon was 33.

So, look for a cold and (we hope) a slightly white Christmas.

'BABE' MARRIED

Noted Girl Athlete Wed To Zaharias, Wrestler.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(INS)—Mildred ("Babe") Didrickson, noted girl athlete, and George Zaharias, heavyweight wrestler, were honeymooning today. They were married yesterday as the climax to a romance begun when they met on a golf course. Miss Didrickson, a native of Texas, made athletic history when she won most of the women's track and field events in the 1932 Olympic games. Later, she became a pro golfer.

80 FREED FROM JAIL

CHICAGO—(INS)—Eighty prisoners in Bridewell jail here were back at home in time for Christmas today. Mayor Edward J. Kelly gave them yuletide pardons. All were married men with children. They had been "sent up" on minor charges.

11th-Hour Buying Rush Shoots Retail Sales Past 1937 Figure

A heavy eleventh-hour Christmas buying rush in Mansfield today was expected to shoot the holiday business volume in retail stores past the 1937 figure by a considerable margin, a survey indicated this morning.

Throughout the city, merchants reported that business was especially good during the past three weeks and general increases from five to 17 per cent were reported over last year.

The survey showed that Mansfield kept pace with the rest of the nation as Christmas buying stepped up retail sales from coast to coast.

After lagging during the first two weeks of the month, the Yule business hit its stride here last Saturday and some stores reported the best Saturday's business of the year.

Merchants said that business during the past five days boosted the dollar volume way above that of 1937, but that individual sales are lower than those of last year.

Several stores which reported large increases in Christmas business which they said was the best in several years, were surprised by the final rush of customers and at least two reported depleted stocks, especially toys, which were virtually sold out.

Increased employment and higher payrolls, coupled with bonus money that was poured into Mansfield trade channels during the past week provided the chief stimulant to the Christmas trade, merchants said.

The survey showed that Mansfield stood well among the leaders in the state and nation in the volume increase. According to International News Service dispatches from New York, an average increase in business throughout the nation ranged from 8 to 10 per cent with top increases shown throughout the middle west.

OLDEST VET OF CIVIL WAR DIES

Christopher Frye, 99, Richland county's oldest Civil war veteran, who said the trouble with living so long was that "you outlived all of your friends," is dead.

Mr. Frye's death, which occurred at 9:15 p. m. yesterday at the home of his foster-daughter, Mrs. Fred Lauer, 205 Bowman street, left only four remaining veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic in Mansfield.

He had been ill for the past two weeks and for the last week had been under the care of a physician.

For years Mr. Frye had been a familiar figure at the G. A. R. club rooms in the Memorial building. His daily routine included a walk to the club rooms, chinning a bit with the "boys," a good stiff game of seven-up, and luncheon at a nearby restaurant, back to the club room for a nap, a few reminiscenses—and then home again.

Although he was one of the "regulars" at the hall and was a members of McLaughlin Post, he was not one of the old timers around Mansfield. Instead he came from "down on the Wabash" where for forty years he was captain of a canal boat. He had lived in Mansfield since 1925.

The other remaining members of the McLaughlin Post are W. R. Kingley, T. J. Shocker, W. B.

ESCAPE DEATH ON YULE TRIP

Ex-Mansfield Couple Crawl From Blazing Car; Bucyrus Youth Killed In Crash.

Two former Mansfielders escaped death Friday when their car overturned and caught fire near East Liverpool, as 15 other persons met death in Ohio traffic accidents virtually on the eve of the Christmas week-end holiday.

The former Mansfield residents who escaped serious injuries are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Price of Bellville, N. J., who suffered minor body injuries at 6:40 a. m. Friday when their machine turned over and caught fire after skidding on the icy highway 2½ miles west of East Liverpool on U. S. route 30, while they were en route to Mansfield to spend the Christmas holiday with their parents.

Killed As Car Skids.

Among the 15 killed in the state was Carl D. Gibson, 22, of Bucyrus, who suffered a fractured skull when his car skidded and struck a tree near the Bucyrus city limits at 12:30 a. m. today.

Mr. and Mrs. Price suffered minor body lacerations and bruises when their car skidded on the icy highway while rounding a curve on a hill. Both escaped before the

DRIVE CHECKED

Spanish Loyalists Halt Franco Offensive Along Pyrenees.

HENDAYE, France—(AP)—Firm government resistance, it was reported today, has checked a great insurgent offensive all along the frozen Pyrenees front from Tremp to Balaguer in a momentous battle of Spain's civil war.

News filtering across the border into France said the big push, led by Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Moors and Italians, had been brought to an abrupt halt.

The front was said to be completely quiet except for occasional artillery shelling.

Heavy snowstorms almost wiped out visibility and freezing cold made fighting virtually impossible in the mountains where two of the greatest armies assembled in a single front in more than 29 months of warfare have been locked in combat since yesterday.

Organize Bloc to Buck Hopkins Confirmation

Senate Republicans, Conservative Dems to Protest WPA Chief as Roper Successor In Post of Secretary of Commerce.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—A coalition of senate Republicans and conservative Democrats was forming today to fight senate confirmation of President Roosevelt's nomination of Harry Hopkins as secretary of commerce.

Prominent Republican leaders, who refused comment on speculation that Hopkins' promotion constituted a boost toward the 1940 New Deal-Democratic presidential nomination, predicted that a "tactful" campaign would result in the rejection of his appointment.

Many enemies of Hopkins, however, believed that the nomination would be confirmed on the theory that the president should be given wide latitude in the selection of his cabinet.

Hopkins was to take the oath of his new office at the White House today. Former Secretary of Commerce Roper's resignation became effective at midnight.

Coalition leaders hoped to obtain anti-Hopkins arguments from the report of the senate campaign expenditures committee, which recently charged that election contests in Kentucky, Tennessee and Pennsylvania were governed in part by politics in relief.

Wants Thorough Inquiry.

"I shall insist that Mr. Hopkins' nomination be referred to the senate and commerce committee for consideration so that these charges of political activity in the Works Progress Administration may be investigated," said Senate Minority Leader McNary, (R., Ore.)

Sen. Bailey (D., N. C.) will succeed the late Sen. Copeland (D., N. Y.) as chairman of the commerce committee. Coalition leaders hope that Bailey, as an influential member of the anti-New Deal bloc, will insist that Hopkins answer all charges made against his administration of WPA.

A Republican spokesman, surveying the committee membership, predicted that Hopkins would be called upon to testify at public hearings, and that Bailey, McNary and Sens. Clark (D., Mo.) and Vandenberg (R., Mich.) would demand a reply to charges that the WPA participated in the recent election campaigns in violation of the United States criminal code and the corrupt practices act.

Sen. Lewis (D., Ill.) said the president "Can't be blind to the fact that this is the way Mr. Hoover got his nomination to the presidency—by first being appointed secretary of commerce."

FREEDOM NEAR FOR 2 MUSICAS

Brothers Hope to Raise Bonds After Judge Reduces Their Amounts.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Two brothers of Philip Musica, alias F. Donald Coster, the swindling president of McKesson and Robbins, Inc., who committed suicide a week ago, expected to win freedom on bail today.

They were George Musica, who went by the name of George S. Dietrich, and handled all details of the fictious crude drugs department that concealed a $21,000,000 shortage in assets, and Robert Musica, alias Robert Dietrich, a purchasing agent for the company.

Federal Judge William A. Bondy reduced the bonds of the three younger brothers of the master swindler yesterday. Attorneys hoped to raise the required $30,000 bail for George and $17,000 bail for Robert today. The other brother, George Musica, alias George Vernard, had no immediate hopes of raising $30,000 bail set for him.

BURNED TO DEATH

ZANESVILLE —(AP)— Ross Ruhamel, 67-year-old farmhand, was found burned to death yesterday at a roadside, where he apparently had lighted a fire to keep warm.

Farmer, Who Killed Father In Yule Tree Theft, Prefers Jail

ELYRIA —(AP)— Picturesque William Case, 84-year-old white bearded farmer whose defense of a grove of Christmas trees brought death to a neighbor, chose today to remain in jail instead of returning to his evergreen studded acres.

He pleaded, innocent to manslaughter in the fatal shooting of William Rousseau, 37-year-old unemployed father of two small girls. Bond was fixed at $1,000 but Case, believed moderately wealthy, decided to remain in his cell.

"I could put it up easy enough," he told Justice of the Peace Charles C. Lord, "but I'd rather stay here."

Prosecutor Howard R. Butler said the aged man would be taken before the grand jury, and "it's up to the jury as far as prosecution of this charge is concerned."

Mrs. Rousseau, wounded critically in the shooting a few hours before dawn yesterday, was reported slightly improved in an Elyria hospital. Nearly 50 pellets from Case's 12-gauge shotgun struck her.

Sheriff's deputies went to the parent-less Rousseau home after the arraignment with a Christmas tree and several bundles of gifts for the two children, Geraldine, 11, and Sarah, 8.

"We'll give them the happiest Christmas possible under the circumstances," said one of the deputies, eyeing a toy sewing machine and a doll which says "Mama."

Case, known as "Santa Claus" to the children in his neighborhood because he gives them nickels, inquired frequently about Mrs. Rousseau's condition.

Sent To Jail For Holiday Because Of Non-Support

There will be no Christmas at home for Jesse Hamlin, Mansfield, who today had been sentenced to the county jail for the week-end for failing to comply with a court order to provide for his three minor children.

Hamlin was ordered by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston to go to jail at 6 p. m. today to serve until 6 p. m. Monday. He must serve every week-end in jail until he complies with an order to make weekly payments for his family, Judge Huston said.

Hamlin was the second father to be ordered to jail over Christmas for the same offense in the past three days. Charles Brant, Mansfield, previously had been ordered to jail for failure to provide for his minor son.

Doesn't Know When Well Off

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

By our ages—16 and 17—you can see that we're both still in high school. I think a lot of him, but he goes around with another girl, and still claims to be in love with me. He has never asked me to go "steady," because he's afraid we'll get tired of each other if we do that. He takes me to most of the dances and parties, and I really have more dates with him than the other girl. But he's always talking about her, which, I think, means he's much in love with her. Don't you?

Now I've decided to play safe and go with another boy, too, and have plenty of dates, though I'd be willing to give up all the other boys if he asked me to. Is he just leading me on, or do you think he's really in love with me?

TEDDY.

I think the boy friend is sensible to tell you that if you went "steady," you'd very likely become tired of each other. It seems to me you're doing very well as it is. You go to all the parties and dances with him and aren't taking him seriously. That's the best thing to do when you're all in high school.

And I really don't believe this boy is leading you on. I think you're just having a grand time being young and happy together. Keep it up.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, Dec. 25.

SUNDAY'S horoscope indicates a paramount attention to the spiritual and humane attributes of the year's outstanding period of festivity and celebration of good will and peace on earth. A more than ordinary attitude of these mystical qualities is likely to mark the annual period of joyousness, kindliness and mutual appreciation. All trivial intrusions of jealousy, strife and ill will should be summarily dismissed.

Those whose birthday it is may approach this holiday season with subdued, reflective, sympathetic and philanthropic appreciation of the meaning of Christmas, and a more sober reaction to festivity and celebration. The mystical and idealistic or altruistic impulses are emphasized, although the social, congenial and youthful attributes are not wanting. All petty or ignoble impulses should be decisively dismissed.

A child born on this day may be versatile, diligent and talented, as well as audacious, adventurous and romantic. It should be friendly, companionable and jovial, although having deep religious and humanitarian impulses.

For Monday, Dec. 26.

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for continuation of the major joys and jollification of the annual period of good cheer, although there may be somewhat of a reaction from high tension and acute indulgences. A surprising stroke of good luck, primarily affecting the social, domestic or emotional life, is indicated. Persons of high station figure in this and may join in prolonging the festivities. Cultivate this by hospitality.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very promising year, with a sudden stroke of good fortune looming large and affecting the social as well as business status. Persons of high prestige and standing seem disposed in this direction and should be cultivated by gestures of hospitality and grace. Much depends on such social or humanitarian contact.

A child born on this day may be excellently endowed with fine attributes and talents to win the support and friendship of those in high places. It may have an arresting personality, many graces and social charms making for a probably fashionable or influential career

For Tuesday, Dec. 27.

The lunar transits for this day indicate a rapid movement of events, with the forces and faculties under extremely high pressure. This may apply with notable effect to the promotion of new projects in which large issues are at stake. It probably will call for the assistance of employers, superiors or those in places of prestige and power, and these will be found ready and willing. Speculative matters also thrive but let not little peculiarities of the mind prove of detriment.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of great activity and high pressure in important new projects, with the assured cooperation of those in place and power. Seek these if plans are practical and well-developed, but be careful as to peculiar mental slants.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, aggressive and practical, with probably a leaning to sound inventions. This should advance it in standing and favor with superiors.

My Neighbor Says:

An easy and successful way to slip geraniums is to insert an oat or a grain of rye in the bottom of the slip, place in earth in a permanent flower pot, keeping the soil moist, and the plant is almost ready for blooming.

To clean a clock, saturate a piece of absorbent cotton about as large as a hen's egg with kerosene oil and place it in the bottom. Close the door and let the cotton remain for three or four days. Then take it out and swing the pendulum. Unless something is broken, the clock will go all right, as the fumes from the oil cleans the works.

The continual ripping off of buttons by the clothes wringer can be prevented by folding the buttons inside the garment and holding it flat as you turn it through the wringer.

Place your Christmas tree in a large piazza urn or bucket filled with sand. The sand keeps it in position and catches any small twigs that may drop from the tree.

Diary of a Fashion Model

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

WELL, everyone is here and it is so exciting and wonderful.

The first to arrive was Don's brother-in-law. And is he adorable! Half the girls in town are mad about him already. With all his looks, family connections and money, he is really a simple sort of chap, not a bit conceited or overbearing. I've been raving over him so much that Bill is actually jealous. I think that Dennis has taken a header for Consuelo (Just listen to me using British expressions!). He is just her shadow and doesn't seem to be interested in anyone else. Well, as Phylys, his sister, says, it will prevent him from falling for some undesirable girl while he is visiting here.

Met Guido at Pier.

The next to arrive was Guido. Bill and I went down to the pier early and arrived just as the ship was docking. We could see Guido and his wife on deck and we waved to them like mad. They were almost the first off the boat and as there was someone from the consulate to take care of the baggage, we were able to leave right away.

She is one of the most beautiful and charming women I have ever seen, and so sweet. She put her arms around me, kissed me, and thanked me for being such a good friend to Guido through the years. I was really touched. You know, we aren't demonstrative, and when a demonstrative Latin does something like that it makes us realize how much we lose in life, through bottling up our feelings and going through life with a poker face.

Guido Happy.

Guido was ever so happy that Bill and I are together again. He told me afterwards that next to his own wedding, nothing gladdened him so much as the sight of us waiting at the pier together. He said he knew at once that we had reconciled, that Bill wasn't down there just to escort me. He is very fond of Bill so, of course, there was much back-slapping and congratulating and such. Guido's wife is as sweet as she is lovely. Already she is a huge success here, and we are quite somebodies knowing such popular people.

Nice Office Frock.

I treated myself to a nice office frock. It is in a cheerful shade of peacock blue and the fabric is wool crepe. The blouse, with its half sleeve, is gathered quite full from yoke to waistband. The yoke is drawn into a bow at the neck. Dark red stone studs close the front. There is a slight flare to the skirt.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

A WELCOME PRESENT

There is no more welcome present to a bridge player than getting doubled at a contract which he can redouble and make. One splendid way to invite such gifts is to bid for a no trump game when holding a long solid minor suit which you have never shown to the opponents. That is, of course, only when you believe the other suits are probably well enough stopped to keep the enemy from a long run before you get into the lead.

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

Some interesting didoes were cut on this deal, submitted by Harry Adler of Trenton, N. J. After East opened with 1-Club, South disdained to reveal his suit with some number of diamonds, but doubled instead. West, apparently hoping to lure South into some kind of a spade bid, made a weakness call over the double, 1-Heart. After North and East passed this, South doubled again.

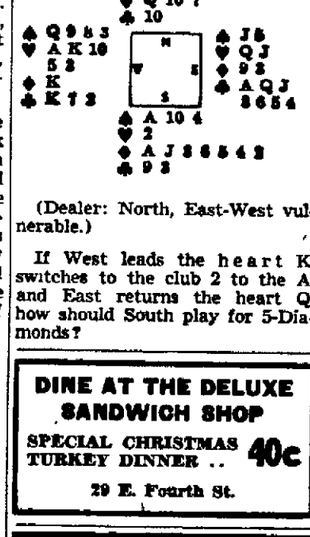
This time West decided to bid his spades at one, whereupon North got into it with a double, which East passed. South's next call of 3-No Trump would have shocked many players if they had been kibitzing, but it was not as unfounded as may appear.

North's double of spades had surely shown them stopped, plus something else in his hand. The something else could not very well be in hearts in view of West's bid and South's own holding. Likewise it could not possibly be in diamonds. It must be in clubs.

That's the way it turned out. East saw fit to double the 3-No Trumps, but South redoubled and a club was led, producing nine consecutive tricks for the declarer.

* * *

Tuesday's Problem.



(Dealer: North, East-West vulnerable.)

If West leads the heart K, switches to the club 2 to the A, and East returns the heart Q, how should South play for 5-Diamonds?

It is an excellent plan before washing new flannels to soak them for a quarter of an hour in cold water with a good handful of salt. Then wash them in the ordinary way. This makes washing much easier and the articles look beautiful when dry. If new colored goods are allowed to stand in salt water and rinsed in the same water, there is no chance of the color running.

Clothes Demand Neat Figure

By MME. QUI VIVE

To make the waist look trim, it is necessary to have good shoulders and a full, normal chest, which offer the contrast to the nipped in equator. Narrow shoulders are the bosom friends, one might say, of a slumped in chest. They suggest impaired lung functioning, shallow breathing, lack of muscular tone, circulation that doesn't travel fast. That state of affairs has a bad effect upon the complexion, which is dependent upon blood streams that get up and scoot about their business.

Let us hope that those slow-going young ladies to whom vigorous muscle action is like a death sentence, who never walk if they can ride, will come to their senses, get in form to carry the new duds that are thrillingly graceful and romantic.

* * *

With fashionable draperies what they are, evening robes without shoulder straps or cut far down at the back, rounded shoulders and flat chests are going to hurl themselves into the public eye. The "little model" that knocked the balance in the check-book silly isn't going to show off too advantage. The time has come when we must wear clothes with splendor. That means a vibrant, well-proportioned figure combined with grace of movement.

* * *

Here is an exercise that will strengthen the muscles of neck, chest, shoulders and upper back:

Stand erect with the feet only a few inches apart, lift the hands until the palms meet high above the head, throw the hands and forearms as far back as they will go. Return to first position and repeat.

Muscles development is possible only by active contraction and relaxation. In all arm exercises the arms should be stretched, muscles made to work.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I could wait a few minutes, however, I told myself weakly, and gave my attention to the gay sentences which Mary was tossing at me.

"We've been doubling for mice," Mary told me, "keeping so quiet for fear we would disturb you. And then we find you all dressed and evidently 'raring' to go'!"

"Have you breakfasted?" I asked, smiling, when her voice finally ran down.

"Oh! yes," she caroled.

She paused, looked at me searchingly, and put the query I had been subconsciously dreading:

"Did you go over to the post-office?" she asked, and at my involuntary look at Noel, laughed with a tinge of embarrassment.

"Oh! I told him all about your clandestine correspondence with Miss Whitlock."

"Yes, I went over there this morning," I said, and stopped, sparring for time to formulate the version of my trip which I meant to give her.

"Did you get a letter?" Mary's voice held an illy-suppressed note of sharpness, although she was patently striving for an effect of nonchalance.

"Yes. Miss Whitlock kept her promise," I answered mechanically.

"Any news from the throne room?" Her side glance at Noel told me that she was a bit uncertain as to his reception of this quilpish reference to his father.

"Only that he telephoned again." The moment's respite had made me determine upon what part of "the whole truth" I should tell.

"Oh!" Her hand went to her heart. "Then he already knows we're not at the hotel! Does that mean he's going to find out where we are?"

"Hold it!" Dicky warned jovially, and with a great sense of relief I mentally stepped out of the picture. He had sent me a little signal which meant, "Let me do the talking," and how gladly I obeyed it only my most secret inner self knew.

"If you had the sense of a bantam pullet, than which there is nothing more stupid," Dicky said with calculated insolence, "you'd know he couldn't find out where you are as long as you stay inside here and don't show your faces on the street until you are ready to leave."

New suit silhouette.

* * *

By VERA WINSTON

Here is something in the way of a new suit silhouette that is very popular in Paris and with smart women here. The fabric is a very dark red woolen, more of an egg-plant shade, combined with sable-dyed baum marten. The fur makes an old-fashioned shawl collar that terminates in tuxedo revers. The sleeves are full, with tight wrists banded in fur. The shoulders are definitely narrow.

Social Security In Cookie Jar

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

A full cookie jar is a pleasant sort of social security. At holiday times and right through the social season it becomes a necessity. No matter how many pies and puddings and cakes are baked, there are always those moments when cookies seem best to meet menu or refreshment requirements.

Here are some pertinent recipes. Butter balls require three-quarters cup shortening (part butter), one cup brown sugar, one egg, two cups flour, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder and one teaspoon vanilla. The topping mixture requires one-half cup chopped nuts and one-half cup granulated sugar. Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients and add. Chill dough. Roll in balls the size of marbles. Mix nuts and sugar and roll cookies in this mixture. Bake on greased cookie sheets in 400 F. oven eight to ten minutes.

Butterscotch Sticks.

Butterscotch nut sticks, tasty and chewy, makes a nice snack. Half cup butter, two cups brown sugar, two eggs, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup chopped nut meats and one-half teaspoon vanilla will yield 42 sticks. Melt butter and add sugar. Blend thoroughly. When cooled, add beaten eggs and vanilla. Sift baking powder, flour and salt together and add to butter mixture. Add nuts. Mix only until well blended. Spread in greased rectangular pan 10 by 14 inches. Bake in 350 F. oven 30 minutes.

Peanut drop cookies make nice ammunition for the cookie jar. Half cup shortening (part butter), one cup sugar, two eggs, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-quarter cup milk and one and one-half cups chopped roasted peanuts will yield about 90 small cookies. Cream shortening and sugar. Add well-beaten eggs and blend thoroughly. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add alternately with milk. Add nuts. Mix sufficiently to blend ingredients. Drop by half-teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet and bake in 400 F. oven from eight to ten minutes.

Tygers Return to Action on Home Court Tuesday Night

Billiards Spill Oils

Hang Up 29-23 Win to Take Undisputed Lead.

The team that wins the Senior A league title this season will have to beat the Rex Billiards, it now appears.

The crack Cuemen, who won the title last season, had the lead to themselves today following their 29 to 23 victory over the Blue Goose Sohians at the Friendly House last night.

First For Sohioans.

It was the first league defeat for the Blue Goose cagers, who made a gallant comeback in the third period. But their rally fell short.

The Billiards took no chances with the Oils as they stepped into a 7 to 1 lead in the opening period. They ran their lead to 16 to 3 in the second quarter.

In the third frame, the Sohioans climbed within four points of the lead, 20 to 14, but they failed to get any closer as the Billiards tied them in points in the final quarter.

Brubach and Richards led the Cuemen in scoring, while Kenny Lockhart was high for the losers with 10.

Augustine's Canfield Oils overcome an early lead to take the measure of the Miller Dairys, 29 to 14. The Dairys held a 6 to 5 advantage at the end of the opening period and 10 to 7 at the half, but the Oils spurted in the third stanza to assume a 15 to 12 edge, which they held they rest of the way.

Carbetta and Schaffer were high scorers for the Oils with 10 and eight points, respectively.

Win In Last Period.

Leading 11 to 6 at the end of the first period, 14 to 11 at the half and 20 to 19 going into the fourth quarter, the Musille Cigars were held scoreless in the last chapter as the Raemelton Farm came from behind to win, 30 to 20.

Sub's First Goals Win for Madison.

A FIELD GOAL by Substitute Walter Kopcial in a "sudden death" overtime period gave the Rams of Madison high a thrilling 31 to 29 victory over a fighting Lexington high quintet in a Richland county league tilt at Madison last night.

The victory, No. 4 for the Rams in league competition, enabled them to retain a share of first place in the circuit race with the undefeated Butler combine.

Kopcial not only won the contest, but contributed two points in the closing minutes of the regulation time to knot the score at 29-11. They were the only two baskets he has scored all season.

Coach Al Fendrick's charges had to come from behind last night to remain in the ball game. A third-period rally gave them a one-point advantage going into the final frame, but Lexington matched the Rams for points to toss the game into the overtime.

The Minutemen broke loose in the opening chapter to grab a 9 to 3 lead and clung to a 15 to 12 advantage at halftime. Madison overtook the Lexington boys in the third to go ahead, 21 to 20.

Joe Miller and Bob Wilkins led the Rams' attack. Miller was high-point man for the evening collecting 11 points, while Wilkins trailed with eight. Shaffer slipped in eight to lead the losers.

Butler Throttles Rally to Win, 38-35.

BUTLER high's undefeated Bulldogs had to throttle a desperate last half Union high scoring spurt to register their fourth consecutive Richland County Basketball league triumph on the Union court last night.

Coach Bob Burgett's fast-stepping aggregation was outscored in in the second half, but came out on the long end of a 38 to 35 score.

The Bulldogs piled up points with ease in the first and second chapters, but were unable to keep up the fast pace after the intermission.

Union entered the contest as the underdog, but gave the Butler basketeers a real battle before it was over. Tolles kept Union in the thick of the tussle by collecting 12 points. His total also gave him the scoring honors for the night.

Butler jumped into a 12 to 8 advantage in the first stanza, and increased it to a 25 to 16 count at halftime. Union outscored Butler, 10-6, in the third, but the Bulldogs went into the final chapter sporting a 31 to 26 lead.

Bob Boales set the pace for the winners with 10 points, with Kenny Miller and Wendall Ward contributing nine points apiece.

Greulich Scores 25 Points In Rout.

LUCAS high school cagers made merry at the expense of the Hayesville courtiers on the losers' hardwood last night as they registered an easy 56 to 16 non-league victory.

Tom Greulich led the Lucas courtmen in the scoring column with 23 points, and Bob Crawford followed with 13. Lucas held a 35 to 7 lead at the half.

Coach Al Axe used reserve players almost exclusively in the second half. Lucas won the prelim, 43 to 13.

1938 The Year In Sports

Swimming

By DILLON GRAHAM

NEW YORK—(AP)—Newcomers churned up a lot of fresh swimming records this year but those reliable veterans, Katherine Rawls Thompson and Ralph Flanagan, again produced a bumper crop of their own.

An Ohio State university sophomore, Al Patnik, was the year's diving surprise, winning the A.A.U. indoor and outdoor 10-foot, the A.A.U. indoor 3-foot and the National intercollegiate championships. A Detroit miss, Halina Tomska, cracked records to take the A.A.U. indoor 100- and 220-yard freestyle laurels.

Jeanne Laupheimer of Brooklyn won the outdoor A.A.U. 220-yard backstroke and the indoor 100-yard backstroke. Virginia Hopkins of Los Angeles upset Champion Elizabeth Ryan to take the 100-meter outdoor title. Helene Rains, 13-year-old New Yorker, copped the 500-yard outdoor championship.

Michigan again won the intercollegiate team championship by a single point over Ohio State, but the Buckeyes became the first college team to capture the National A.A.U. indoor team championship. Ohio State scored a double by taking outdoor honors, too. The Los Angeles A.C. won the women's outdoor title and the Washington A.C. of Seattle took the indoor championship.

Little Mrs. Thompson splashed to two new indoor and four outdoor championships. She had to break a national record to beat

KATHARINE RAWLS THOMPSON
She was again tops among the year's women swimmers. Mrs. Thompson splashed to two indoor and four outdoor national championships.

Helen Rains in the 300-yard individual medley in 4 minutes, 3.2 seconds and was forced to tie her own mark of 1 minute, 18.5 seconds to capture the 100-yard breast stroke event.

Mrs. Thompson later beat Miss Rains in the 300-yeard outdoor medley in record time of 4 minutes, 33.1 seconds. Two hours after that race Mrs. Thompson bettered the world mile mark in 23 minutes, 47 seconds.

Flanagan also shattered records with abandon during the winter in Florida pools, including the 12-year-old Johnny Weissmuller 150-yard freestyle mark, which distance he covered in 1 minute, 23.6 seconds. Flanagan won outdoor A.A.U. championships in the quarter, half, and mile events and copped indoor titles at 220- and 500-yards.

Whippets Tumble Jackets

Shelby Hands Mt. Vernon First Defeat As It Registers Initial Victory.

SHELBY—An inspired Shelby high quintet registered its initial basketball victory of the season here last night by handing out the first defeat to a favored Mt. Vernon high combine, 38 to 32, in a North Central Ohio conference tussle.

Coach Bill Query's fast-improving outfit, defeated in their three previous starts, displayed a powerful scoring attack to topple the Yellow Jackets.

Mt. Vernon got off to an early lead, but once the Whippets found the range it was impossible to stop them. The only time the Jackets were ahead was in the opening minutes of the contest when they gained a 3 to 0 advantage.

Shelby, led by Bob Lehman and Robert Fireovid, who between them accounted for more than half of their team's total, gained the lead midway in the first period and was never headed.

The Whippets led, 6 to 4, at the end of the opening chapter, 16 to 13, at halftime and, 26 to 20, going into the final frame.

Lehman slipped in 13 points to set the individual pace, while Fireovid tossed in 12. Bateman paced the losers with 12.

Harold Hollinbaugh, a reserve who has impressed Coach Query with his performance in preliminary games, got his first chance on the varsity squad last night and was the outstanding defensive star of the Whippets' victory.

Redmen Register First Triumph.

GALION—The Redmen of Bucyrus high came through with their initial triumph of the year by topping Galion high's Orangemen, 39 to 30, in a North Central Ohio conference affair here last night.

Bucyrus rallied in the second quarter to gain the lead. It was the Redmen's first win in five starts.

Galion grabbed a 9 to 4 advantage in the opening period, and then Bucyrus went ahead, 20 to 15, at halftime, and still retained that margin in the third chapter which ended 28 to 23.

Bill Seits and Jim Oborn were the principal reasons for the victory. Seits dropped in 11 points while Oborn followed him with eight. Maidens of Galion dumped in 14 points to set the individual pace.

In the preliminary attraction, the Galion reserves defeated Bucyrus, 25 to 20.

PETE HENRY TO SPEAK AT OLD-TIMERS RALLY

One of the largest gatherings of former athletes in Mansfield is expected at the Moose hall at 7:30 p. m. Monday when the Old-Timers Athletic association will hold a rally.

Pete Henry, Mansfield high school product who is athletic director at W. & J., will be the principal speaker. It will be an open meeting and all former athletes and fans are urged to attend.

Pop Cosgrove's Hillbilly band will provide music at the rally. Several rounds of amateur boxing will also be staged.

CALIFORNIA WELCOMES DUKE GRIDIRON FORCES

PASADENA, Cal.—(AP)—The Blue Devils of Duke pitched their camp on the Rose Bowl front today while the University of Southern California Trojans got in a final practice before knocking off for Christmas.

A 50-piece band and half of Pasadena was at the station to meet the invading football men from Durham, N. C. Duke wound up its pre-Pasadena workouts yesterday and took a sight-seeing trip through the Grand Canyon in Arizona. Coach Wallace Wade reported his squad in top shape.

YULETIDE CARDS REVEAL MONTAGUE'S MARRIAGE

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Friends who thought most of the mystery surrounding the one-time "phantom of the fairways," muscular John Montague, had been dispelled, were puzzled against today as they received Christmas cards signed "John and Esther Montague."

The golfer and a wealthy Beverly Hills widow, Mrs. Esther Plunkett, have been frequent companions at Hollywood affairs during the past year. But friends said there had been no hint that Montague had married.

PLAY TUESDAY NIGHT

Class B Church league teams will return to action at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday. The schedule: Mayflower vs. First M. E., 6:45; Central M. E. vs. St. John, 7:45; Baptist vs. First Presbyterian, 8:45; First Christian vs. South Main, 9:45.

BUCYRUS LINEMAN MAY GET POST IN BACKFIELD

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(UP)—A fractured hand belonging to Bud Magee of Columbus Holy Rosary today lifted Souders of Bucyrus and Barsotti of Middleport into the picture as backfield possibilities for the central Ohio all-star high school football team.

The fracture will prevent Magee from playing against the St. Petersburg High school eleven next Monday. Souders and Barsotti who saw service last fall in the backfields of their respective schools had been listed as linemen.

GRADE SCHOOL TOURNEY OPENS AT Y TUESDAY

The annual grade school basketball tournament will open at the Y. M. C. A. at 2 p. m. Monday. Ten schools are entered in the elimination which will run through Friday.

Opening games Tuesday: Hedges vs. Western, 2:00; West Fifth vs. Brinkerhoff, 2:45; Carpenter vs. Newman, 3:30.

Bobcat Takes Scoring Lead

Baumholtz Adds 12 Points As Ohio U. Loses.

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Frank Baumholtz, Ohio U.'s new sophomore scoring star, added 12 points to his tally sheet and assumed the individual Ohio college scoring leadership today with 118 points.

The Bobcats forward picked up the even-dozen points last night while the Buckeye five was losing its second game of the season in six starts to George Washington university at Washington, D. C., 65 to 39. Baumholtz' total is nine points greater than the mark of 109 netted by Chuck Chuckovits, Toledo U. senior, in six games this season.

Baumholtz and the Bobcat five will be idle until Jan. 5 when they open their Buckeye conference schedule against Ohio Wesleyan at Athens. Chuckovits returns to action Monday night against Centenary college, visiting the Toledo court.

No Ohio teams are carded for tonight although Marshall college, Huntington, W. Va., member of the Buckeye league, concludes an eastern trip at Scranton college. Besides the Centenary-Toledo meeting, Monday's program has only Ohio State vs. University of California, southern branch, at Berkeley, Cal.

In other games last night, Case staved off a last-minute Miami rally to win, 38 to 36. Herman Weiss and George Rung tallied 16 and 14 points, respectively, for the Scientists. Marshall lost to St. Francis at Brooklyn, 45 to 33; Cincinnati took Wilmington, 38 to 28.

Lemunyon Rolls 716

Opens String With 289 Game; Smith Gets 264.

Harold LeMunyon, George (Printer) Smith and Ben Boals held the spotlight in league matches at the Meder alleys last night.

Bowling with the No. 2 team in the Moose home league, LeMunyon cracked the uprights for a torrid 716 total, which was featured by a sensational 289 opening game.

LeMunyon followed with games of 202 and 225 to lead this team to a clean sweep over No. 5.

Smith, lead-off man for the Kiwanis club of the Club league, plastered up a 264 in his opening tilt, but fell down in his next two games to finish with a 526.

Opening up with a 256 to start a 577 series, Boals and Sonny Meder led the Page Dairys to three victories over Smith's team in a postponed match. The Dairymen stirred up a 2713 count.

In other postponed Club league matches, the Baku Grotto took two games from the Optimists, despite Art Hilborn's 603, and the Tracy & Avery five added two at the expense of the J. A. C. club.

CAMDEN, N. J.—Yvon Roberts, 224, Toronto, and Gino Garibaldi, 219, New York, drew.

Trojan Quarter Gets Pair of Rubber Diapers

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—Duke had its "panties incident" and today Southern California was plagued with a "rubber diaper" episode. The teams meet in the Rose Bowl football game and apparently unnamed fans are trying to spur their favorites to victory by arousing them with insults.

Latest in the string was receipt by Granville Lansdell, Trojan quarterback, of a pair of rubber diapers. They arrived in the mail yesterday but, as in the case of the Duke garments, the post-mark was unintelligible. Lansdell said he found his gift waiting for him after practice yesterday. He blushed and added:

"I'm really so embarrassed."

OHIOANS DROP SECOND STRAIGHT TO HUSKIES

SEATTLE—(U.P.)—Ohio State met its second straight set-back of a holiday west-coast basketball tour last night, losing to the University of Washington Huskies 51 to 37.

Roy Williamson, Washington forward led the offensive, totaling 17 points, most of them in the first half. Captain Jim Hull again was the standout in the State lineup, and scored 11 points. However, he was off form on his specialty, set-up shots, and missed many after dribbling in to shoot unguarded. Richard Baker was the leading Buckeye scorer, making 12 points.

Procurement Division, Public Buildings Branch, Washington, D. C., Dec. 9, 1938. Sealed proposals in duplicate will be publicly opened in this office at 2 P.M., Jan. 10, 1939, for construction of the U.S.P.O. at New London, Ohio. Upon application, one set of drawings and specifications will be supplied free to each general contractor interested in submitting a proposal. The above drawings and specifications must be returned to this office. Contractors requiring additional sets may obtain them by purchase from this office at a cost of $5 per set, which will not be returned. Checks offered as payment for drawings and specifications must be made payable to the order of the Treasurer, U. S. Drawings and specifications will not be furnished to contractors who have consistently failed to submit proposals. One set upon request, and when considered in the interests of the Government, will be furnished, in the discretion of the Assistant Director, to builders exchanges, chamber of commerce or other organizations who will guarantee to make them available for any sub-contractor or material firm interested, and to quantity surveyors, but this privilege will be withdrawn if the sets are not returned after they have accomplished their purpose. W. E. Reynolds, Assistant Director of Procurement, Public Buildings Branch. (Dec. 20, 22, 24, NJ '38)

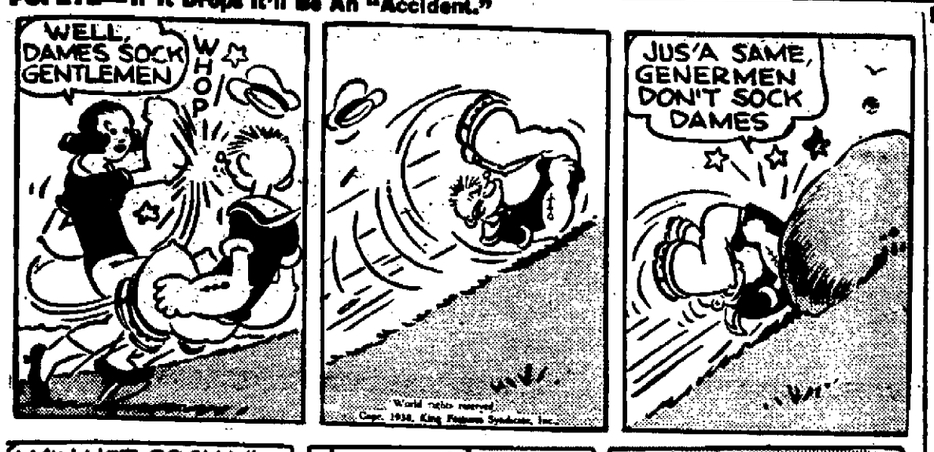
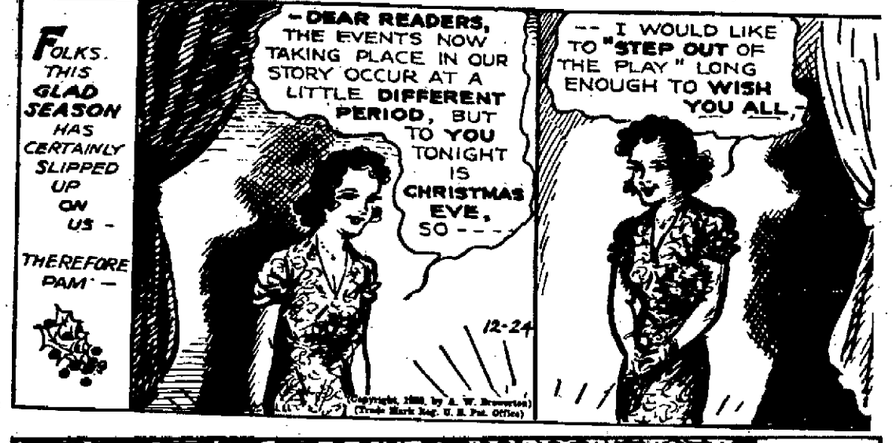
POPEYE—If It Drops It'll Be An "Accident."



PAM—Curtain Speech! By A. W. Brewerton



FOLKS, THIS GLAD SEASON HAS CERTAINLY SLIPPED UP ON US - THEREFORE PAM — —DEAR READERS, THE EVENTS NOW TAKING PLACE IN OUR STORY OCCUR AT A LITTLE DIFFERENT PERIOD, BUT TO YOU TONIGHT IS CHRISTMAS EVE, SO - - - 12-24
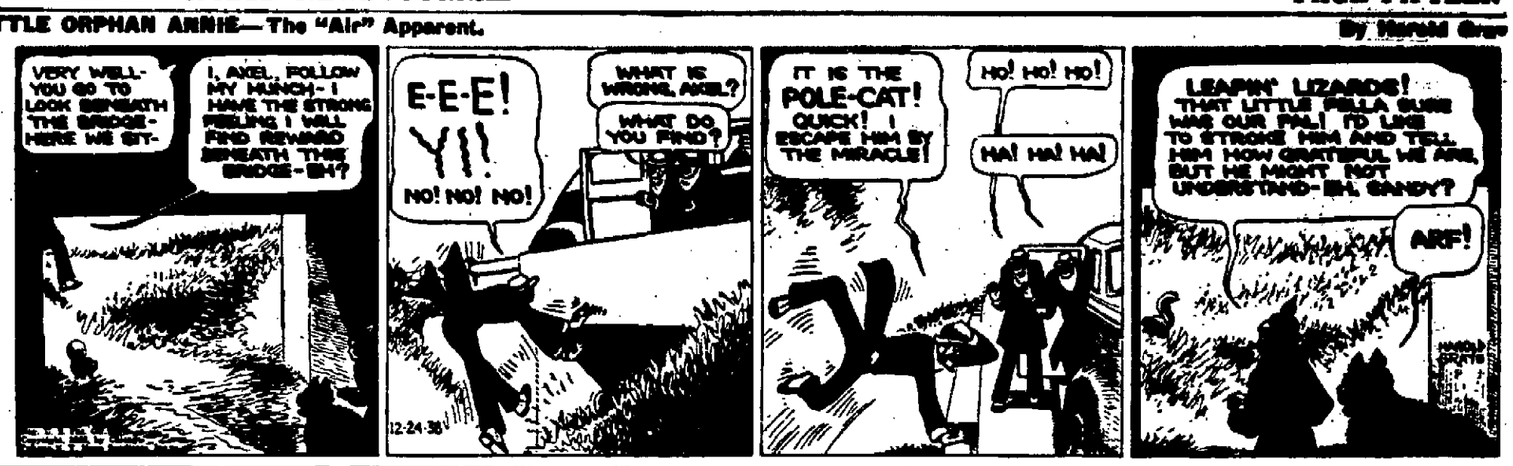
-- I WOULD LIKE TO "STEP OUT OF THE PLAY" LONG ENOUGH TO WISH YOU ALL,
A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS TIME!
AND THE SAME FROM YOURS TRULY, A.W. BREWERTON

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—The "Air" Apparent. By Harold Gray



VERY WELL- YOU GO TO LOOK BENEATH THE BRIDGE- HERE WE SIT-
I, AXEL, FOLLOW MY HUNCH- I HAVE THE STRONG FEELING I WILL FIND REWARD BENEATH THIS BRIDGE- EH?
E-E-E! YI! NO! NO! NO!
WHAT IS WRONG, AXEL?
WHAT DO YOU FIND?
12-24-38
IT IS THE POLE-CAT! QUICK! I ESCAPE HIM BY THE MIRACLE!
HA! HA! HA!
LEAPIN' LIZARDS! THAT LITTLE FELLA SURE WAS OUR PAL! I'D LIKE TO STROKE HIM AND TELL HIM HOW GRATEFUL WE ARE, BUT HE MIGHT NOT UNDERSTAND- EH, SANDY?
ARF!

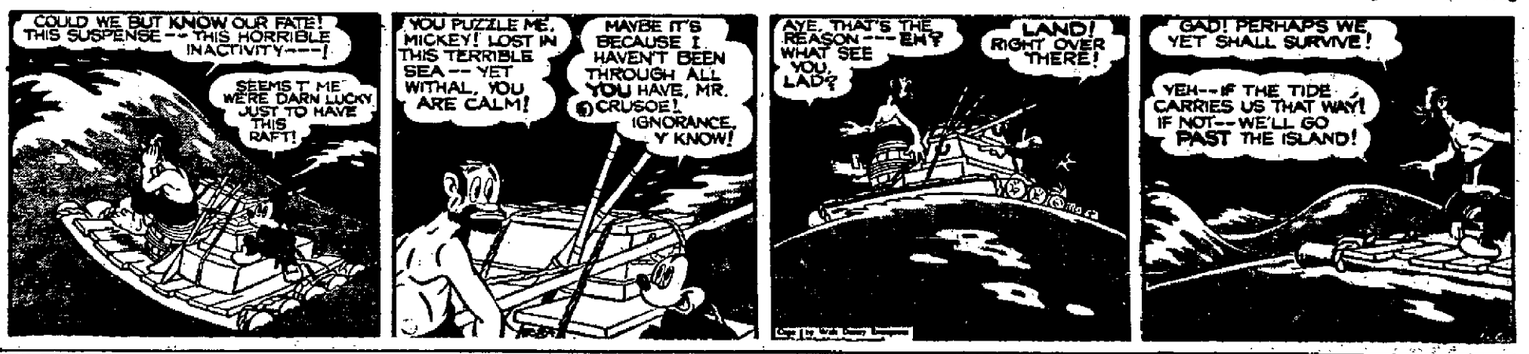
THE NEBBS—Merry Christmas. By Sol Hess

CIGARS FROM ERNIE - THE FRANK FLOOD, A GOOD NICKEL CIGAR WHICH BROUGHT UP THE PRICE OF CABBAGE. AND THE CARD A NEW WISH - "YOU SMOKE IN THIS WORLD - YOU'LL FURNISH THE SMOKE IN THE NEXT".
WHAT IN THE WORLD COULD YOU BE GIVING ME, RUDY!
12-24
A MINK COAT! YOU EXTRAVAGANT SWEETHEART - AND IT'S WHAT I'VE ALWAYS WANTED
PUT IT ON, SWEETHEART, IT COULDN'T BE AS BECOMING TO A MINK!
RUDY, THIS IS A WONDERFUL CHRISTMAS!
YES, IT IS, IN SPITE OF YOUR BROTHER AND HIS BRIDE - NEITHER OF WHICH IS YOUR FAULT

BRICK BRADFORD—In the Fortress of Fear. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray

IN THEIR CAMP ON THE SHORE OF LAKE AKSUM, BRICK'S FRIENDS, LEADERS OF HIS LITTLE ARMY, ATTEMPT TO REACH AN IMPORTANT DECISION
I JESS KNOW BRICK'S IN TROUBLE OR HE'D BE BACK BY NOW!
BUT HE COMMANDED US TO STAY HERE UNTIL HE DID RETURN!
BUCKO IS RIGHT—WE SHOULD ATTACK THE FORTRESS AT ONCE!
12-24
O.K! YOU WIN! SINCE IT IS SEVERAL DAY'S MARCH LET'S START NOW!
AND SO BRICK'S TINY ARMY OF SOME THREE HUNDRED BEGINS ITS ALMOST HOPELESS MARCH UPON THE NEARLY UNPREGNABLE FORTRESS OF ALAMOOT—IN AN EFFORT TO RESCUE HIM!

MICKEY MOUSE—Beyond the Blue Horizon. By Walt Disney



COULD WE BUT KNOW OUR FATE! THIS SUSPENSE - - THIS HORRIBLE INACTIVITY - - -!
SEEMS T' ME WE'RE DARN LUCKY JUST TO HAVE THIS RAFT!
YOU PUZZLE ME, MICKEY! LOST IN THIS TERRIBLE SEA - - YET WITHAL, YOU ARE CALM!
MAYBE IT'S BECAUSE I HAVEN'T BEEN THROUGH ALL YOU HAVE, MR. CRUSOE! IGNORANCE, Y' KNOW!
AYE, THAT'S THE REASON - - - EH? WHAT SEE YOU, LAD?
LAND! RIGHT OVER THERE!
GAD! PERHAPS WE YET SHALL SURVIVE!
YEH - - IF THE TIDE CARRIES US THAT WAY! IF NOT - - WE'LL GO PAST THE ISLAND!

SPREAD CHEER TO CITY NEEDY

Muster-Cheers Distribute 10 Tons of Food to 550 Needy Families.

Deliveries throughout the city were made by the American Legion and Boy Scouts under the direction of James Zimmerman and Hollis Moorhead. By 11 a. m., 275 families had been supplied with baskets.

At the Salvation Army headquarters, Legionnaires, Boy Scouts and Jane Williams of The News-Journal handled the throngs of applicants for dinner supplies, filling the waiting baskets with an average of 38 pounds of good, substantial food.

Mothers with children holding their hands waited eagerly in line for their Muster-Cheer baskets. Hope appeared in the eyes of fathers who had feared their families might have to go hungry over Christmas.

"Mom, when are we going to get ours?" one little boy queried as he tugged at his mother's hand.

Men and women who worked throughout the day to fill the baskets from the huge mounds of food, sending the hundreds of families away happy, saw the real spirit back of Christmas, they said.

Variety of Food.

In the baskets were from two to four pounds of boneless ham, 10 pounds of potatoes, canned fruit and vegetables, bread, prunes, a head of cabbage, can of milk, crackers, peanut butter, a pound of coffee, a bag of noodles, a pound of oleomargarine, two pounds of beans, at least four oranges, cookies and nuts. Portions of meat, bread and oranges depended on the size of the applicants families.

Funds to provide the Christmas dinners came from proceeds of the charity ball last Monday night in the Mansfield Coliseum. The Muster-Cheers—The American Legion, Warner Brothers theaters and The Mansfield News-Journal — sponsored the ball, purchased the supplies and handled the distribution.

The 550 needy families who shared in the distribution of baskets were chosen by a committee of five members who are familiar with the city's welfare needs. Members were Mrs. Elmer Post, chairman of the welfare department of the Federation of Women; Floyd Dent, Boy Scout executive; Mrs. Pearl Hautzenroeder, of the city relief office; John H. Eisaman, city schools attendance officer, and Adjutant David R. Brown of the Salvation Army.

Nearly 350 boys and girls were to be guests of the Salvation Army at that agency's headquarters at 3 p. m. today for the annual Christmas party. Santa Claus distributed toys, candy and an orange to each of the little guests.

Funds contributed by generous Mansfielders who responded to the tinkling bells of the Salvation Army workers on the streets provided the toys and "treats" for the needy youngsters.

Dozens of other families were supplied with gifts of food and clothing by the Volunteers of America, the Junior Association of Commerce and the Mansfield Gospel Mission.

In cities throughout Ohio, benevolent, fraternal, religious and other organizations combined to make it a better Christmas for thousands of destitute families by distributing baskets with food and clothing and distributing toys to poor children.

Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Akron, Toledo, Lorain and Dayton were among the cities that conducted campaigns for the needy.

MANSFIELD FIRM RAZING SCHOOL

Cleveland Company Assigns Unit Here For John Simpson Job.

Razing of the old John Simpson junior high school building, which has been under way for several days, is being done by the Mansfield Wrecking company.

The razing contract was let to the S. H. Tuber company of Cleveland, but actual work of demolishing the building was turned over to the Mansfield firm, a subsidiary to the Tuber company

Men employed on the project are from the Mansfield area. The major part of the razing is scheduled for completion before school re-convenes Jan. 4.

Most of the 47-year-old building will be torn down to make room for a new junior high school.

OLDEST VET OF CIVIL WAR DIES

Hammett, and G. W. Fisher.

Mr. Frye was born in Massillon, Oct. 24, 1839, and at the age of 14 went to Toledo, where he lived until he was 21, going from there to Indiana.

In the first few weeks of the Civil war he enlisted in Company D, 47th Indiana Infantry, and was honorably discharged from the service on June 9, 1862. At the skirmish of Bardstown, Ky., he was wounded in the hand and suffered the loss of his left thumb. After his discharge, however, he continued to stay with the army, and secured a place as hostler with his colonel, shouldering a gun whenever he could.

Fought For Three Days.

During the battle of Lookout mountain he picked a gun from the lifeless hands of a slain infantryman, and "carried on" for three consecutive days. He also fought at the bloody battle of Shiloh.

Mr. Frye was one of five brothers who served the Union army Two were killed in action, and two preceded Mr. Frye in death.

Mr. Frye started his canal boat experience as a mule driver before the days of motor power. He was later promoted to a tiller and after a few years purchased his own boats and became a captain.

At the age of 86, the veteran canal boat captain sold out his business and retired just previous to coming to Mansfield.

The aged veteran who used to gather with his comrades to swap yarns said eight years ago:

"The thing I don't like about living so long, is that you outlive all your friends. And an old fellow like me gets to feeling kinda like the last leaf on the tree—just waiting for a November wind to come along and blow you away."

Mr. Frye is survived by his foster-son and daughter Mr. and Mrs Fred Lauer and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Wappner funeral home with Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating.

Full military honors will be conducted at the grave by Earl McVey post, No. 16, Mansfield American Legion. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

P. S. AFTER ALL FOLKS—WE STILL WISH YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS

Dear Friend:—

This year, we've chosen to broadcast "Good Cheer" in sincere appreciation of your friendship and good will.

We are glad to lay aside all thoughts of business—of going and coming—and send you a simple, genuine wish that yours will be a Joyful Holiday Season and one of long and pleasant memories. Some folks will tell you that "business is business." But we've found in serving you that "business is PLEASURE," and we hope the pleasure has been mutual. We hope, too, that it may be our pleasure to "be there when you want us" for many years to come.

So in keeping with the tradition of Christmas, and in the spirit of the Holiday Season, we extend to you our good wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy, Healthy, Prosperous and Safe 1939.

CHAPTER 31.

MR. WORTHINGTON GURLEY, almost 18, was terribly embarrassed with himself.

He was acutely happy because he felt—indeed, he knew, positively—that true love had come to him. But he was also embarrassed because of what he felt might be a sad act of disloyalty.

Sara Sue Davis had been so nice to him. She was so beautiful, or had been. He had fancied himself in love with Sara Sue. It simply had not occurred to him, he realized now, that Mrs. Davis was a matron, quite old. Twenty-three is well past maturity. People could even mistake her for his mother, maybe. Well, maybe not hardly that, but almost.

Nevertheless he had paid serious court to her. True, he had not actually told Sara Sue of his love, nor asked to kiss her as he had wanted. But he had set out to lick big Bob Towne at the art of love making, and he hadn't been doing so badly either. He had taken Sara Sue to the freshman ball, which was something, yeah man!

But she had also stood him up this morning. Made a date to meet him in the Montrose Plunge, and then never showed up. That ought to absolve him of a lot of obligation to her, oughtn't it?

He decided to go over and see her any way. He owed her a chance to explain.

She greeted him cordially. "How are you, Worthington?" But she did not offer a very explicit reason for failing to meet him at the Plunge. She did, however, mention something else that thrilled him. "Oh, I've got a compliment for you, Worthington! The nicest thing! Do you happen to remember that girl you swam with in the pool this morning, when I couldn't get there? The one Helen McKean introduced you to? Marcia d'Alaine? Well, Marcia was here this afternoon, and she said the nicest things about you! She was deeply impressed by you."

"Was she, Sara Sue? Honest?"

She was, honest, it seems. Sara Sue told him exactly what Marcia had said. He left the Davis cottage presently, whistling and dreaming. It was nearly 8 p. m. He'd just go over to the dormitory office and phone Marcia d'Alaine and see what she was doing. Not ask her for a date, but just talk a little. Or maybe just ask if he could run by a few minutes and take her over to the drug store or something. Sara Sue, counsel in romance, had told him he ought to follow up a pleasant contact like that, because Marcia came from a fine old southern family and all.

He met big Bob Towne coming across the campus, yodeling. Bob stopped singing long enough to greet him.

"Button, slime, you low-down contemptible—!"

• • •

Mr. Gurley gave the freshman salute. They understood each other.

"Say, Bob," Worthington then blurted, impulsively, "I was just going to look for you! Say I—gosh! Listen, Bob—you can have Sara Sue! I mean, I'm not forgetting the talk you gave me, but I'm withdrawing from the race."

Now this really was important to Mr. Robert Towne. He became serious, and talked with the freshman at some length. When they departed, they shook hands like old soldiers meeting at Gettysburg, enmities forgotten. Yep, Bob had met the d'Alaine girl. "Sweet little number, slime; you are to be complimented on your choice. Lemme know if I can help you at any time. Whereupon Mr. Robert Towne proceeded on toward the Davis cottake, yodeling even louder than before.

On the inspiration of the moment, however, he cut by the Autry House and bought a two-pound box of chocolates. Not the cheap kind, but the kind that costs a dollar and a half a pound, and is in a box that looks like five dollars a pound. He went on to Sara Sue's with the box under his arm—and, lo, if Mr. T. J Sanders wasn't just getting out of his car at the curb, and lo, if he, too, wasn't carrying a box!

But T J's box was larger than Bob's. Bob made some effort to drop his down behind his leg casually, then realized it was too large to hide. Anyhow, he knew instantly that T. J.'s held flowers.

"How are you, Towne?" T. J. greeted, but he didn't really wish to know. Bob felt.

"Tops. How're you doing?",

"Swell. Looks like we're headed for the same place." T. J. smiled.

"Looks like it. Well, come on."

Now the fact is, neither young man had an actual date, but neither would let the other suspect it. Each had just happened by, hoping for a chance to visit with Sara Sue and bringing a gift to soften her heart. Coincidence brought them together outside. Coincidence in hour, in yearning, in desire. Neither could—or would—back down now. The conversational atmosphere was a bit chilly out here. "Come on in," suggested Bob, sensibly.

"Oh, boys!" Sara Sue greeted them together, with enthusiasm. "How ni-i-ce!"

How nice, indeed! Two rather handsome young men. Two young men aggressively in love with her. Two suitors bearing gifts. How nice, indeed—from her viewpoint!

For the life of him Bob Towne couldn't think of any way to get rid of T. J. Sanders. And T. J. couldn't think of a thing to do about Bob. One doesn't walk off a field of battle and let an enemy take charge—either in war or in love.

• • •

Some more students were there, several more in fact, so Sara Sue tactfully led her personal callers into her private office. It was cozy in there. And they wouldn't be disturbed by the singing, laughing and talking in the huge living room.

She put T. J.'s flowers in a big vase, admiring them as they deserved.

She talked brightly, with animation. She ate a piece or two of Bob's candy—"They're delicious, Bob! I'm so grateful. To both of you. You are such thoughtful friends. And how nice that you came together. Let's play the new game, Ching Chow checkers. Want to? Three can play."

They didn't want to, but then you have to do something when you are stymied this way. You can't go off and leave your rival with your girl in her private office. "Sure, Sara Sue, let's play the game!" T. J.'s humor began to take charge presently, and he managed to have a pretty good time.

For one thing, he accepted Sara Sue's offer of Bob's candy. It was good candy. The expensive kind, a dollar and a half a pound.

"I'm so sorry you are in training and can't eat any, Bob!" Sara Sue lamented. "I'll bet you are glad when football season is done."

"Yeah, shame you can't have a piece, Towne," T J. agreed, taking a third caramel. The caramels were quite soft and chewy, deliciously flavored. "These creams are excellent, too. Did you try any of the creams, Sara Sue? Whose play?"

Time marched on, as they say, but it wasn't in any hurry this evening.

Bob Towne, normally the university's best conversationalist, seemed peculiarly to be without anything to say. His normal verve and good-natured outlook seemed to be dulled. He was (apparently) deeply concentrated in the new marble game. It seems that you move marbles from hole to hole over a small board. You jump your competitor's marbles. You move diagonally and—

But T. J. was having better luck at Ching Chow checkers. Or better skill.

"Wonderful! Marvelous, T. J.!" Sara Sue laughed gleefully when he made a sudden run of plays. "You are clever at games, aren't you?"

"Luck," mumbled T. J. modestly, reaching for more candy.

Now high-grade chocolate candy is rather heavy. That is, it comes in concentrated form, so that a pound, for instance, isn't really such a great bulk. There are no known statistics on just how much chocolate candy a young man can eat during one evening, but it would seem that a good-sized healthy young man could consume quite a few pieces—conceitably more than a pound, with help from a girl.

• • •

Toward 10 o'clock, T. J. realized he didn't actually want any more candy. But the matter had become a sort of secondary game with him by then. Flowers will last five or six days. And remind one of their giver. Nobody can eat flowers. But candy—he had another piece. He chuckled a little. Mr. T. J. Sanders appreciated the finer things of life. He chuckled again. The marchmallow-pecans are good, too.

When the box was down to two pieces, he held off. Interest in the checker game was rather high now, anyway. Sara Sue was bent over the board—her hair catches points of light like tiny stars, when she leans near you—and her soft voice was rather entrancing. Individually and privately the young men noted that the candy was virtually exhausted. "Whose move?" It's an absorbing game, isn't it?"

To keep training, Bob had to leave by 10:30, and Sara Sue tactfully sent T. J. home at the same time. The good nights were cordial. A good time had been enjoyed by all, it appeared. The young men shook hands.

And then, walking alone—"Hell and damn!" growled big Bob Towne, who was not given to profanity at all.

RECEIPTS FROM SALES TAX DROP

County Fails to Keep Pace With Gains Made In State.

Richland county failed to keep pace with the rest of Ohio in sales tax gains for the second week in December over the preceding week, with the county showing a decrease of $1,191 as compared with an increase of $21,000 in the state.

The county's sales tax receipts for the week ending Dec. 10 were $10,182 as compared with $11,373 the preceding week.

For the entire state collections during the second week of the month, boosted by Christmas buying, were $934, 791, State Treasurer Clarence Knisley reported.

The Year In Review—

PRIMARIES BEGIN IN MAY; HITLER, DUCE SEE SIGHTS

American Town Blacked Out In War Games; Secretary Ickes Takes Bride.

By VOLTA TORREY
(AP Feature Service Writer)

TO 13 high-school graduates last May in Arthurdale, W. Va., a New Deal model town, President Roosevelt talked taxes.

Previously he had raised the question of taxing government bondholders and jobholders Business men, on the other hand, had spotlighted another issue, the undistributed-profits and capital-gains levies, and Congress finally had passed a bill to modify them.

Chapter 5 of a Month-by-Month Review of 1938

In his commencement address, Mr. Roosevelt announced his decision to let that bill become law, but he wouldn't sign it. And he told the class of '38: "Our whole tax system, state, local and federal, can and must be greatly improved in the coming year."

Primaries had begun. The President wouldn't talk about them. But his son spoke for Florida's Sen. Claude Pepper (he won), Secretary Ickes criticized Oregon's Gov. Charles H. Martin (he lost), and Jim Farley urged Pennsylvania Democrats to nominate Gov. George H. Earle for senator (he won in May but lost in November) and CIO's Thomas Kennedy for governor (he lost). Pepper's victory pepped up the President's partisans. But in Pennsylvania's primary, G. O. P. Generalissimo Hamilton saw "the handwriting on the wall for the New Deal and its radical and crackbrain allies."

'Wedding' Of The Dictators.

The League of Nations conceded Ethiopia to Italy. Der Fuehrer pitched woo at Ol Duce in Rome, and 2,600 trumpeters played the "Lohengrin" wedding march. Poet Arthur Guiterman wrote that "all Europe now is undertaking diverse, conflicting axis-making." And it looked in May as though war might pop out any day, but the Czechs mobilized and wishful thinkers figured Hitler's bluff had been called.

Mexico's President Lazaro Cardenas won a petty war from Gen. Saturnino Cedillo and severed diplomatic relations with Britain while squabbling over oil. And Brazil's President Getulic Vargas, with pistol in hand, saved himself and his palace from allegedly fascistic "Green Shirts."

For the first time, a U. S. town, Farmingdale, L. I., was blacked out in a war try-out. "Our Town" became the Putlizer prize play. Norman Thomas had been hustled out of Mayor Hague's Jersey City and two congressmen failed to deliver well-ballyhooed speeches there.

Youth In The News.

"Love Walked In" was May's hit song. Secretary Ickes and Jane Dahlman, 25, were wed in Ireland. Violinist Yehudi Menuhin and an Australian heiress became engaged. Brides-to-be, too, were his sisters, Hephzibah, 17, and Yaltah, 16.

William McChesney Martin, Jr., 31, was chosen as chairman of the N. Y. Stock Exchange's governors. Britain's "Henry Ford," Viscount Nuffield, was nearly but not quite kidnaped. Two-Ton Tony Galento was hailed as the world's best second-rate heavyweight. Sally Rand lectured Harvard's frosh. And everybody sympathized with six-weeks-old Helaine Colan of Chicago, suffering from glioma, a cancerous tumor that creeps along the optic nerves to the brain.

Thirty-five died in an Atlanta hotel fire. Airliners crashed in California and Cleveland. Floyd Roberts, averaging 117.2 miles an hour, won the Memorial day auto race; and Earl Ortman won the Oakland, Calif., air show's main event at a 265.539-mile-an-hour clip.

Red plants for Christmas are the order of the day. Try red begonias, red primulas, red cyclamens and by all means the brilliant red poinsettias.

City Adores Babe of Bethlehem In Rites Tonight and Sunday

Birth of Christ-Child To Be Retold In Age-Old Songs and Ceremonies as Mansfield Joins In Observance of Christmas.

With candlelight services, caroling and traditional ceremonies, Mansfield churches tonight and Sunday will observe Christmas, most significant day of the year for the Christian world.

In each of the services there will be something of the adoration shown on the night in Bethlehem more than 1,900 years ago when the Christ-child was born.

Age-old songs will be sung by choirs and the story of the Holy birth will be repeated.

At least seven of the city's churches will usher in Christmas with candlelight services and other ceremonies tonight. At St. Peter's Catholic church a solemn high mass will be read at midnight, opening a series of services that will continue at intervals until noon Christmas day.

All of the churches will include Yuletide music in their Sunday services, and the First Congregational church will present the cantata, "The Story of Christmas" at 10:45 a. m. tomorrow.

Midnight services will be held at the South Main Street Evangelical, First Lutheran, Grace Episcopal, St. Matthew's, St. John's Evangelical, St. Luke's Lutheran and St. Paul Lutheran churches.

Program by the beginners and primary departments of the Sunday schools will be held during the Sunday school hour Sunday morning at the First Lutheran, St. John's Evangelical, First Methodist and First Presbyterian churches. The Sunday school of South Main Evangelical church will hold its program at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

St. Luke's Lutheran.

Two services, one at 11:15 p. m. today, and the other at 10:45 a. m. Sunday will mark the observance of Christmas at St. Luke's Lutheran church.

For the Christmas eve service, Rev. Herbert S. Garnes, pastor, will have as his sermon subject, "The Angel's Proclamation." The choir of 20 voices, directed by Miss Florence MacDonald, will sing "Come Hither Ye Faithful," "Christmas Carill on Carol," "The Shepherd's Story," and "Calm On the Listening Ear of Night," with an obbligato by S. K. Jorgenson, violin, and Ernest Schafer, cello. Horace Braden will sing as a vocal solo, "The Birth of Christ."

The first 15 minutes of the service, 11:15 to 11:30, will consist of a short recital by an instrumental trio composed of Jorgenson, violin, Schafer, cello, and Mrs. Frederick H. Cahall, organ. They will play, "Elsa Enterint the Cathedral" from "Lohengrin," "Adoration," "Jesu Bambino," and "Chimes at Christmas." The postlude will be "Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel.

Music for the church service at 10:45 a. m. Sunday includes, "Sing, O Sing, This Blessed Morn," and "Arise, Shine, For Thy Light Is Come," sung by the choir directed by Miss MacDonald; a vocal solo, "Jesu Bambino," by Emercon Bletz, and as the prelude and postlude, Mrs. Cahall will play "March of the Magi Kings" by DuBois, and "Christmas Postlude" by Hosmer. Rev. Garnes will have as his sermon subject, "The Son of God In Swaddling Clothes."

First Presbyterian.

The annual White Christmas Gift program at the First Presbyterian church will be held at 9:15 a. m. Sunday in the main auditorium of the church. Children of all departments will take part in the program.

At the 10:30 a. m. service, Rev. David N. Roller, pastor, will speak on "The Road to Bethlehem."

The senior choir, directed by Mrs. C. O. Anglin, will sing two numbers, "And the Glory of the Lord," from Hendel's "Messiah," and "O Holy Night," by Adams. Mrs. A. L. Twitchell, organist, will play as the prelude, "The Pastoral Symphony," from Handel's "Messiah," and "The Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah."

St. Matthew's Lutheran.

Christmas music by the church choir and soloists will be heard during a candlelight Christmas eve service at 10:45 p. m. today at St. Matthew's Lutheran church.

Music will include "Holy Nignt" by Dudley Buck, "Evening Bells and Cradle Song" by McFarland and "Infant Jesus" by Yon, played by Miss Anna Klippel, organist; "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," and "There Were Shepherds" by Vincent, sung by the choir.

A solo, "Swing Ajar, Ye Gates of Night" by Mrs. Charles F. Sheriff; a solo, "The Birthday of the King" by Mrs. Earl Adams, and a quartet comprised of Mrs. Sheriff, Earl Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meier will sing "Sweet Christmas Star."

Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, pastor, will speak on the subject, "God With Us." The church will be lighted by candles for this service.

Regular church service will be held at 10:45 a. m. There will be no evening service.

Park Avenue Baptist.

Baptism of children will be conducted during the Christmas day service at 10:30 a. m. Sunday at the Park Avenue Baptist church.

Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor, will preach on the subject, "Christmas Recognitions." Music will include a vocal solo, "Nazareth," by Frederick Jackson; "Break Forth O Beauteous Heavenly Light" by Bach, sung by the senior choir and three selections, "Jesu Bambino," by Yon, "Grand Chorus," by Salome and a medley of Christmas carols played by Fred Sutcliffe, guest organist in the absence of Lawrence S. Frank, minister of music.

A combined meeting of the junior, intermediate and senior departments will be held during the Sunday school hour at 9:15 a. m. in the senior room. Miss Esther Lantz, who has been attending the Columbia School of Speech and Drama in Chicago, will speak.

South Main Evangelical.

A candlelight service at 11:30 p. m. today by the choir of South Main Evangelical church will open the Christmas observance at that church. The choir will be directed by Frederick Wolf. Rev. C. L. Kern, pastor, will deliver a short Christmas message.

The Sunday school of the church will present its annual Christmas program at 7:30 p. m. Sunday when a pageant, "The Greatest Gift" will be given. Regular services will be held Sunday.

First Christian.

Observance of Christmas at the First Christian church will continue Sunday during the Bible school at 9:30 a. m., and the regular worship hour at 10:30 a. m.

Music during the church service will include the anthem "Sleep Holy Babe" by Mathews, sung by the choir with Mrs. Oliver Shively as soloist. Mrs. H. H. Clingan will direct the choir.

A trio comprised of Mrs. Bruce Rogers, Mrs. Frank Brannon and Mrs. Shively will sing "Angels O'er the Field," an old French carol. The organ prelude will be "Holy Night" by Buck, and the organ offertory will be "Ave Maria" by Schubert. Rev. B. F. Haglebarger, pastor, will have as his sermon topic, "The Mystery and Wonder of Christmas."

Following the service the choir will sing the "Hallelujah Chorus," closing with "Adesti Fedelis" by Whiting. During the Bible school hour an offering will be taken for the Cleveland Christian home for children.

St. John's Evangelical.

A Christmas eve candlelight service at 11 p. m. today will usher in the observance of Christmas at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church. Other services will include a combined Sunday school and church service at 9 a. m. Sunday, and a German worship service at 10:30 a. m.

During the candlelight service tonight, the church choir, directed by John C. Klinger, will sing three Christmas anthems, "The Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah," "O Quiet Night" by Neidlinger, and "Bethlehem" by Bowker-Stickles. Rev. Paul H. Saleste, pastor, will speak on the subject, "Christmas Magic." The church will be lighted by candles for the service.

The primary and beginners' departments of the Sunday school will unite to present their Christmas program during the combined service Sunday morning. Guest soloist will be Mrs. Edith Fletcher Jamesen. She will sing "Star of the Orient."

The program will include songs and recitations, and a short Christmas play, "Christmas Memories," with William Heichel, Laurene Fetter and Thelma Stinebring having the leading roles. Baptism of children will be held, and following the service children of the two departments will be given their annual treat.

Rev. Saleste will preach on the subject, "Holy Night," during the German service at 10:30 a. m.

St. Paul Lutheran.

Christmas music by the senior and junior choirs and soloists, will be featured during a carol-candlelight service at 11 p. m. today at St. Paul Lutheran church.

The senior choir will sing the anthem "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," by Speaks-Deis, and the junior choir, directed by Mrs. H. L. Gilbert, will present an old Norwegian carol, "How Glad I Am On Christmas Eve." Ralph Beilstein will accompany all numbers on the violin. Miss Jane Weuthrick, as a hidden voice, will sing "The Angel Song," by Stickel. The entire congregation will take part in candlelight service.

Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor, will speak on the subject, "The Greatest Gift of All" during the 10:30 a. m. service Sunday. Music will include a vocal solo, "O Holy Night," by Miss Estella K. Arras, and "Blow, Winds, O Softly Blow," sung by a women's sextet composed of Miss Arras, Miss Mary Kelsey, Mrs. Roland Stahl, Mrs. J. M. Weil, Mrs. Paul Lee, Mrs. Don L. Borchardt, and Mrs. H. L. Gilbert, accompanist. O. L. Seybold, organist, will play "In Dulci Jubilo" for the prelude, and Merkel's "Christmas March" as the postlude.

Paul Lee will give the monthly missionary topic during the Sunday school hour at 9:30 a. m. His subject will be "What Shall Be Done With the Retired Servants of the Church."

A post Christmas gift exchange will be held during a meeting of the Missionary society at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Mrs. Mike Loesch will give the topic and Mrs. Frank Miller and Mrs. Fred Stanslowsky will be hostesses.

St. Peter's Catholic.

Two choirs comprising 112 voices will sing the solemn high mass at midnight tonight opening the Christmas observance at St. Peter's Catholic church. Other masses on Christmas will be at 5 a. m., 6:30, 8, 9:30 and 11 a. m.

A surplice choir of 22 boys from the Junior class will sing the Gregorian Mass proper in the sanctuary. In the choirloft will be a choir of 40 boys from the Senior class and the alumni, assisted by 50 choristers from the grade school.

As the processional they will present "Silent Night" and will sing the Missa Brebes mass by Montanni. The offertory will be "Adeste Fidelis" by Reading. At the Communion of the mass the selection will be "Jesu Bambino" by Pietro Yon. The recessional will be "Glory be to God in the Highest."

The entire choir of 112 voices also will sing the 11 a. m. mass. The 8 a. m. mass will be sung by the Sophomore boys while the Junior and Senior girls will sing hymns at the 9:30 mass.

All the choirs are under the supervision of the Sisters of St. Francis.

Christmas observance at St. Peter's will close with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at 7:30 p. m.

First Methodist Episcopal.

The Sunday school of the First Methodist Episcopal church will observe Christmas with a special program beginning at 9:15 a. m. Sunday and closing at 10:25 a. m.

The church service begins at 10:30 a. m., during which the choir, directed by James Weber, will sing, "While Shepherds Watch Their Flocks," and "The Birthday of the King."

Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor, will speak on the subject, "The Christ-child Grows Up."

First Congregational.

"The Story of Christmas," a cantata by Matthews, will be presented by the choir of the first Congregational church during the 10:45 a. m. service Sunday.

The cantata will be given in four parts: 1. "The Prophecy"; 2. "Voices in the Sky"; 3. "The Quest of the Magi," and 4. "Glory to God in the Highest."

Soloists, and the numbers they will sing are: Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine, choir director, "The Angel Gabriel Was Sent From God"; Mrs. Carl Walker, "O Lovely Voices of the Sky"; Willis Wygant, "Behold, There Came Three Wise Men From the East"; Lawrence Bergstrom, "And When They Were Come Into the House"; Wanda Hess, "Sleep, Holy Babe."

Miss Louise Krause, church organist, will play for the prelude, "Christmas Pastorale" by Harker, and for the postlude, "March of the Magi" by Harker. Willis Wygant will sing as the offertory number, "Cantique de Noel" by Adam.

Mayflower Congregational.

The Young People's society of the Mayflower Congregational church will present a pageant, "The Sign of Peace," at an evening service at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

Principal parts will be taken by Marion Southward, Doris Peat, Geraldine Frank, Kenneth Rudolph, Richard Miles and Helen Wolford. Musical numbers in the pageant will be sung by Mrs. A. H. Fankhauser, Miss Margery Miles, Miss Etabel Hunter and Miss Betty Edwards.

Leroy Coffey, Shelby police chief, will be guest pastor at the morning service at 10:15. He will speak on the subject, "Following the Wise Men."

First English Lutheran.

A program by the primary and junior departments of the Sunday school will be given during a combined Sunday school and church service at 9:45 a. m. Sunday at First Lutheran church.

The service will be divided into three parts. A church service will be held during the first 45 minutes with the pastor, Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, speaking on "On Earth Peace." Sunday school will be held for the next 40 minutes, followed by the primary and junior department's program which will last 40 minutes. There will be no eveing service or Luther league meetings Sunday night.

The observance of Christmas at the church will begin with a Christmas eve candlelight service at 11 p. m. today. A program of chimes will be played by Mrs. Clayson Bell, organist, beginning at 11 p. m. and continuing until 11:15 p. m. At 11:15 Mrs. Bell will play a 15 minute program of Christmas carols, followed at 11:30 with the church service.

Rev. Swoyer will speak on the subject, "Make Room For Jesus." The chimes, carols and entire service will be broadcast from the church tower through an amplifying system.

Grace Episcopal.

Selections by the boys' choir will feature the annual Christmas eve service and Holy Communion at 11:30 p. m. today at Grace Episcopal church.

The choir will sing "Three-fold Kyrie" by Merbecke; "Gloria Tibi" by Tallis; "Gloria in Excelsis" by Merbecke; "Sursam Corda" and "Sanctus" by Nicholson, and the choral eucharist.

As a vocal solo, David Weimer presents "Ave Maria" by Bache-Gounod. For the processional the choir will sing "Adeste Fidelis," and for the recessional, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing."

"Silent Night, Holy Night" will be sung at the end of the service instead of the "Nunc Dimitis," and "Ave Maria" will be the musical theme of the entire service. Holy Communion and a Christmas sermon will be delivered at 11 a. m. Sunday.

"Holy Night, Silent Night . ."

THEATERS

Movie gossip . . . Another Academy Award winner possibility is Walter Brennan for his work in "Kentucky" . . . they say the scenes of racing thoroughbreds Dave Butler got are film poetry. . . . Mrs. Otto Kruger's health is still so bad that a nurse will accompany her on her trip to England . . . Fan mail of Mickey Rooney has jumped 90 per cent in a year . . . it's now running neck and neck with Clark Gable's mail. . . . Gracie Fields, British comedienne, has taken the film folk by storm.

* * *

Hardys Go West.

Lewis Stone, Cecilia Parker, Mickey Rooney and Fay Holden are some of the members of the Hardy family who are at the Ohio theater in "Out West With the Hardys." Mickey, as Andy, has just broken up with his girl friend, Ann Rutherford, and is delighted at the opportunity to take a trip to Arizona with his family. Judge Hardy has been summoned to the home of his friends the Northcotes to aid them in untangling a legal problem. Andy's various escapades, his adjustments, and his humbling reconciliation with Ann all make the entertaining plot colorful.

* * *

Stage Show.

"Calling All Stars" is the title of the song, dance and jest revue to be presented Sunday and Monday at the Madison by Terry Rogers. Armida, Mexican film actress, is the stellar attraction of the show which includes Carl Freed and his harmonica rascals, a chorus of dancers, specialty acts, and comedy. The stage revue will be presented with the movie "Say It In French." Ray Milland and Olympe Bradna are co-starred in this picture which tells of a young Park avenue bachelor who brings a French bride home after he plays a golf tournament in Europe.

* * *

Starts Christmas Day.

A novelty picture, "The Terror of Tiny Town," coupled with "The Strange Case of Dr. Meade," is the attraction showing Christmas day, Monday and Tuesday at the Majestic. The first picture, with an entire cast of midgets, is a typical western film in which the saloon owner, who is a cattle rustler, foments a feud between two leading ranchers. Jack Holt is the star of the other picture which deals with the difficulties a famous surgeon encounters when he attempts to introduce scientific medical methods to a backwoods community.

* * *

Crosby Croons.

"Pennies from Heaven" is the attraction at the Park which will open Christmas day with "Orphans of the Street." The first picture stars the crooning Bing Crosby and Madge Evans with Edith Fellows as the orphaned gamin whom Crosby attempts to provide for. In "Orphans of The Street" Tommy Ryan is cast as an orphan whose dog is put on trial for murder.

* * *

Colbert and Cooper.

Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper have the leading roles in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" which opens tomorrow for a two-day run at the New Ritz. In this story Miss Colbert plays the role of a French girl, the daughter of an impoverished aristocrat. She marries a wealthy American for his money, and then proceeds to fall in love with him The second holiday feature is "Touchdown Army," a picture of the gridiron, West Point and romance

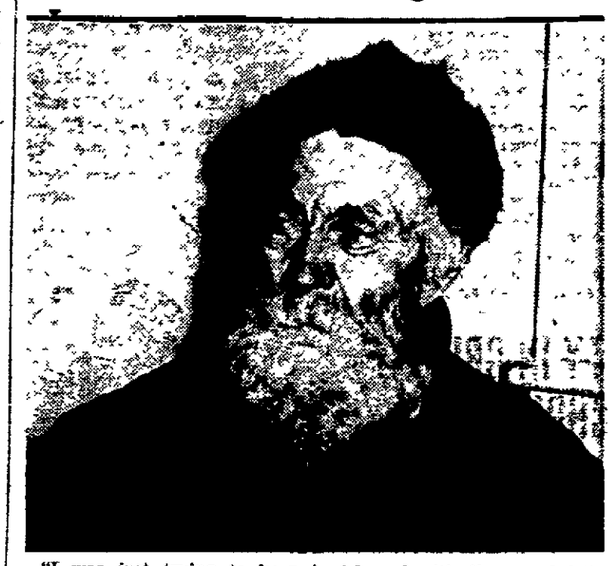
Killed Father Stealing Yule Tree



"I was just trying to keep people from stealing my Christmas trees" So says William Case, 84-year-old farmer and "Santa Claus" to children of Columbia Station in Lorain county, Ohio, in describing how he shot and killed a 37-year-old unemployed father of two little girls and critically wounded the man's wife while they were stealing a Christmas tree for their children. The slain man, Wilham Rosseau, a greenhouse worker, lived on a farm near Grafton, O. The wounded wife, Mae, 29, was given only an even chance to live.

GALION CHURCH CHOIRS TO SING YULE MESSAGES

Special Services Arranged For Tonight, Tomorrow For Congregations.

GALION—Christmas Eve and Christmas day will be observed in Galion by Sunday school and choir programs besides the special church services, and carol singing by individual groups.

There will be midnight masses at St. Patrick's and St. Joseph's churches on Christmas eve. Grace Episcopal church also will have a special service beginning at 11:30 p. m. Saturday night.

Besides the midnight mass at St. Joseph's church, the services Sunday will include masses on Sunday morning at 6:00, 6:30, 7:00, 8:00, and 9:30 o'clock.

On Sunday morning at St. Patrick's Catholic church the children's choir will sing the high mass at 8:00 o'clock. The final mass will be a low mass at 10:00 o'clock.

At the Church of the Nazarene, the junior choir will sing a cantata at the service Christmas morning, and there will be a miscellaneous program.

Give Cantata Sunday.

A cantata will be sung by the choir at First Lutheran church at 10 a. m. Sunday.

There will be a group of anthems sung by the choir Sunday morning at the First Reformed church.

Recitations will be interspersed with music for a Sunday school program Sunday morning at the United Brethren church at 9:30 o'clock.

Then on Christmas evening at Peace Lutheran parish house there will be a Sunday school program.

At the Market Street Methodist church the Christmas day activities will include special choir music at the morning service beginning at 11 o'clock, and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock the Sunday school will present a three-act play.

The choir at the First Baptist church is being directed by W. G. Sanderlin for a cantata to be given Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

The processional "O Come Little Children" will open the Christmas program Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran church, and there will be a miscellaneous program.

DIES AT AGE 65

Mrs. Kathryn Hoffman was Native of Richland County.

Mrs. Kathryn Hoffman, 65, wife of Harry A. Hoffman, died at the home, 19½ East Third street, Friday night after an illness of several months.

Mrs. Hoffman was born in this county, Jan. 10, 1873, and spent her entire life in this community. She was a member of the Methodist church.

The survivors include a son, Clyde; two daughters, Mrs. Gladys Schivinski and Mrs. Irene Winskey; five sisters, Mrs. D. B. Wolfgang, Mrs. William Birmelin, Mrs. Burt Ward and Mrs. Luthera Knapp of Mansfield and Mrs. Lee Smith of Lexington; three brothers, Mart and Frank Deems of Galion and Clate Deems, and a grandson.

The body was removed to the Finefrock funeral home where services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Monday with Rev. E. C. Corwin of the First Methodist church officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

PRESENT PLAY

LUCAS — The Christmas play, "Why The Chimes Rang," will be presented by a cast of young people in St. Paul's Lutheran church here Sunday evening, according to Rev. Carl Driscoll.

Included in the cast of 12 will be Billy Hammet, Robert Arehart, Mary Jane Smith, Richard Airhart, Carl Fulton, Arthur Darling, Zane Moore, Leone Robinson, John Oswalt, Loetta Beasore, Henry Mowers and Elizabeth Driscoll.

The play will be directed by Miss Esther Barnett.

Special Christmas music will also feature the service.

RITES ARE SET

BUCYRUS — Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. in the Brokensword Evangelical church for Charles Gerhart, 77, Crawford county farmer, who died Thursday night at the home of his son Clifford Gerhart in Chatfield township. Services will be held in the Brokensword church and burial will be made in the church cemetery.

The deceased is also survived by a brother Lewis of Attica and two sisters, Mrs. Tillie Kuncy of Attica and Mrs. Louise Margraff of West Union, Ia.

PLAN FOR DANCE

SHELBY—Plans are being completed this week for the annual New Year Eve party at the Shelby Country club. Art Shreffler's orchestra of this city will play for the dance. Mr. and Mrs. Wade Bricker will have charge of the refreshments.

PICK OFFICERS

LUCAS — V. Leland Gilliland, superintendent of the Lucas schools, was named president of the Monroe Community association, which was organized at a meeting of local citizens held at the school building recently.

Dale Patterson was made vice president. Other officers are Mrs. Ruth Smith of Melco, secretary, and Donald Parfitt, treasurer.

A committee consisting of Wilson Berry, Mrs. H. D. Crawford, and Mrs. E. C. Culler, will arrange the program for the first meeting of the association which will be held early in January.

CITY IN GRIP OF CHRISTMAS JOY

Spirit of Goodwill on Air as Mansfield Prepares For 2-Day Observance.

Charities and welfare organizations provided for unfortunate families, contributing food, clothing and those extra knick-knacks that make the youngsters happy at Christmas time.

The city's business and industry will be at a standstill over Sunday and Monday. Public offices in the courthouse and city building will be closed both days. Banks and the state liquor stores will be closed Monday, which will be observed as the legal Christmas holiday.

After weeks of extra activity, store employes and postal workers will enjoy a two-day rest. There will be no deliveries of mail either Sunday or Monday except for special delivery messages and packages.

Most stores, however, will remain open until 9 p. m. today to accommodate late shoppers.

With Christmas observed on Sunday, churches will give special attention to ceremonies in tribute to the Christ-child. A number of them will hold candlelight services tonight.

Prisoners Share Holiday.

Prisoners in the county and city jails and the Mansfield reformatory will share the city's Christmas spirit tomorrow with special holiday meals and entertainment.

The city will observe its custom of freeing all prisoners held for minor offenses, and six men serving out fines and sentences for intoxication were to be released today. Only one prisoner will be in the jail over Christmas.

More than 3,000 inmates at the reformatory will feast on roast pork dinner and in the afternoon a basketball game, movie show and vaudeville acts will provide holiday entertainment.

The movie will be "Professor Beware," a Harold Lloyd comedy, while entertainers in the institution will present the vaudeville show.

A basketball game is scheduled between the reformatory team and Scott's Shell Oil team from Sugar Creek.

With their roast pork Christmas dinner, reformatory prisoners will receive mashed potatoes, sweet potatoes, jello, pickles, coffee and a pound of chocolates each for dessert.

At the county jail, 25 prisoners will feast on roast chicken, mashed potatoes, noodles, baked apples, pumpkin pie, bread and butter, coffee, oranges and nuts.

Hear Final Program.

Throngs of holiday shoppers last night heard a two-hour program of carols broadcast through loudspeakers in the downtown area by the South Main Street Evangelical church orchestra and double mixed quartet, the Jonathan glee club directed by Albert Arnold, and Eugene Smart's brass choir.

The program, final of a series of five this week, was under the direction of the Mansfield Public Parks association and Retail Merchants association.

Ten choirs from churches, schools and fraternal organizations and two instrumental units provided music during the week.

At the close of the program last night, Ed Wyllie of the Parks association and C. M. Crafton, representing the retail merchants, spoke briefly in greeting to the public and in appreciation of the music contributions of the choral and instrumental groups.

SERMON TOPIC

'Christian Science' to Be Subject of Scientist Lesson Sunday.

"Christian Science" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined" (Isaiah 9:2).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "But thou, Bethlehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting" (Micah 5:2).

FUNERAL HELD

BUCYRUS—Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Songer, East Warren street, have returned from Cadillac, Mich., where they attended the funeral for Mrs. Songer's only brother, John L. Risher. Mr. Risher, a former Bucyrus resident, was a railroad engineer and formerly worked on the New York Central out of Bucyrus.

Survivors include the widow Lena Sutterland Risher; three children, Mrs. Jearl Jordan and William Risher, both of Detroit and Harold Risher of Bay City, Mich., and Mrs. Songer of this city, a sister.

State Ready to Award $22,599 Muskingum Road Job.

LUCAS—Bids on the construction of a new highway from Newville to the Pleasant Hill Dam will be opened by Irvin R. Ault, state highway director, in Columbus on January 6, it was announced today.

The new highway, according to official published notices, will extend for a distance of 11,216.6 feet or 2.124 miles, will have a roadway of 24 feet, and a 16 foot "traffic bound" paved surface.

Cost of the proposed new construction is estimated at $22,599.85 by state highway department engineers.

When completed, the proposed road will provide outlets for farmers residing south of the Clear Fork and the reservoir basin above the Pleasant Hill Dam.

Several miles of highway in the basin will have to be abandoned when the reservoir if filled.

TELLS OF 'ISMS'

Dies Committee Witness Talks To 3 Clubs Here Tuesday.

Edward Herzog, Elyria World war veteran, who recently testified before the Dies congressional committee in Washington about subversive influences in America, will address a joint luncheon meeting of three Mansfield service clubs Tuesday noon at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Service officer for the Elyria post of the American Legion, Herzog will tell members of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Optimist clubs of "Isms."

Herzog joined the Communist party to gather information concerning Communist activities in America for the American Legion, and told the house committee of his findings when he appeared as a witness two weeks ago.

John Cook of the Rotary club will be program chairman of the meeting. The luncheon will replace the weekly Thursday session of the Kiwanis.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAMS GIVEN AS GALION SCHOOLS OPEN HOLIDAY

grams and observances were held in the Galion schools Friday as the schools closed for a holiday vacation, but probably the most outstanding program was that sponsored by the Girl Reserves in the Senior high school auditorium at 2:15 p. m. The public was invited for this program.

"The Doctor of Lonesome Folk" a Christmas pantomime in five scenes, was given. No lines were spoken in this play with the exception of the prologue speech by "One Who Knows the Doctor," and the story was told by the actions of the various characters.

The prologue lines were read by Marguerite Black. The part of the doctor who is the embodiment of Christmas spirit was portrayed by Joan Campbell. Others who took part in the play were: Jean Ailes, Mary Frances Fulton, Betty Lou Gibson, Elaine Mittman, Evelyn Musselman, Helen Taylor, Alice Benbow, Carol Gardner, LaVerne Roesch, Donna Tuttle, Florence Belle Shaw, Jeannette Nagelbush.

Special music accompanied the play and was presented by Kathryn Thayer Manning at the organ and Louise Lorentz at the piano.

Those who acted as stage managers were Eugene Jack, Frank Johnson and Allan Hocker.

The play was directed by Hilda Schooley, assisted by Arvilla Emmenegger, sponsor of the Girl Reserves.

ASHLAND JURY AWARDS $2,000 CRASH DAMAGES

James Robertson Wins Verdict For Injuries Suffered In Automobile Accident.

ASHLAND—After deliberating one hour and 20 minutes in the damage suit of James Robertson against E. G. Buchsieb, judgment of $2,000 was awarded the plaintiff by nine members of an Ashland county common pleas court jury Thursday.

The plaintiff sought damages of $5,000. He chargeu that on May 16, 1937, he sustained injuries in an automobile accident on route 39 near Loudonville because of the negligence and fault of the defendant. He contended that the defendant's car collided with his through the defendant's negligence. It was claimed that the plaintiff was rendered permanently disabled by the injuries.

START SEWER PROJECT

ASHLAND—With the start of excavating for the first sewer line, work on the Ashland WPA sewerage extension project got under way here Thursday. Excavation is being done by the General Construction company.

The new sewer line will run south to the old A. and W. railroad right of way, then to Cleveland road and on to the corner of Cleveland and Middle Rowsburg roads. In the first section of the PWA project, two 12-inch parallel lines are being installed. This furnished employment for seven men Thursday.

SET HEARING DATE

ASHLAND—Dec. 30 was tentatively set by Ashland county commissioners as time for hearing of a formal application of the American Surety company of New York and the New York Casualty company to be released as surety for H. O. Faber, county treasurer.

When requests were submitted by R. H. Munsie, superintendent of claims for both companies to be relieved as continuing as surety for the treasurer, no action was taken by commissioners.

According to law, such matters provide that five days' notice must be given commissioners on an application to withdraw as surety for public official. The surety companies can be relieved as acting as surety if the application, at the hearing, is supported by evidence satisfactory to the commissioners.

The office would be deemed vacant and would be filled by appointment if the treasurer were unable to give new bond in the amount required.

The Spirit of Christmas

THERE'S something about the Christmas season that makes it different from any other part of the year—so different it may sometimes be wondered what the outcome would be if the spirit of Christmas could be extended throughout the year and encompass the entire world.

For that vast multitude of people who come within the spell of its influence, the Christmas spirit means temporary forgetfulness of self and an ardent desire to do something for others—not only friends and loved ones but also those who are less fortunate, and particularly for under-privileged children.

The flow of money at Christmastime reaches the year's peak in gift-buying, for it is in the exchange of gifts and in bringing happiness to others that the holiday finds most general observance.

But entirely aside from an increased desire to give, the spirit of Christmas has a religious significance which has carried the light of civilization and human progress through many centuries, with ideals and tenets upon which further advancement of individuals and peoples must depend.

Acting under influence of the spirit of Christmas there can be no manifestation of the traits of greed, envy, malice, jealousy and intolerance which cause the suspicion and hatred that lead to strife among individuals or groups and war between nations.

In contrast with the spirit of Christmas, as it is now in evidence in the United States, it is well to give thought of the anti-Christmas conditions existing in some other parts of the world where harsh and grim ways of life have been substituted for the kindness, consideration and tolerance that are essential parts of the doctrine of "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

Contentment. and a fair share of happiness, is assured those in whose hearts the spirit of Christmas has a permanent abiding place.

So That the Hungry May Eat.

TIRED but happy, the volunteer workers of the Three Muster-Cheers are winding up another period of strenuous activity in behalf of unfortunate individuals and families in Mansfield that might otherwise have gone hungry on Christmas.

In a variety of ways the Muster-Cheers bring together the money and supplies needed to fill hundreds of Christmas baskets for distribution to needy families.

Those unfamiliar with the processes can have little idea of the immense amount of work that goes into this task—work that brings weariness of body and nerve-racking experiences as the curtain is drawn aside to reveal the abject poverty that exists in some homes even in a city such as Mansfield.

How does this condition come about? Who is responsible in each of these cases of destitution? There is a proper time to ask these questions and to seek remedies. But not during the Christmas season, when hearts open in sympathy to unfortunates and when first thoughts are for the welfare of others.

There is no finer human attribute than that expressed in a desire to give of one's surplus in order that others who are less fortunate, or less physically or mentally competent, shall not be deprived of the essentials of comfortable living.

To the forces of the Three Muster-Cheers, and to all who shared in bringing greater Christmas joy to any person or family, these words of scripture are addressed: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Progress In Education.

THERE are times when the task of educating people in matters that concern their own welfare, even their personal security, seems almost hopeless. Year after year the same warnings and counsel are sounded, without apparent benefit to those whom they are designed to aid. And then, quite unexpectedly, evidence that all efforts have not been in vain appears like a star that gleams suddenly in a black sky.

The task of educating the motoring public, and also pedestrians, to the need of care in the operation of cars and in the general rules of travel, has often seemed to be a labor with no hope of reward. But now there is a decline, sharp and consistent, in highway accidents and fatalities, reflecting the ultimate fruitage of many years of education in the need of caution.

Nothing but implicit confidence in an ultimate happy outcome prevents a shudder of dismay at Little Orphan Annie's present plight.

The law of averages allows you no more than a fifty-fifty break on the "Merry Christmas" greeting and the "Same to you" comeback.

Coincidence: Pennsylvania rigidly enforces speed limits on highways. Consumption of liquor has decreased in Pennsylvania.

One western state imposes a fine of $25 for thumbing a ride—and the method of collection should prove interesting.

South American republics may be addicted to dictatorships, but they don't like the European type.

Drive carefully tomorrow and Monday—Better be too careful than not careful enough.

Heavy-laden is he who carries a grudge.

"—and on earth peace, good will toward men."

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the Angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.

And the Angel said unto them, fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the City of David a saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the Babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the Angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass, as the Angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary and Joseph, and the Babe lying in a manger. —Luke II:8-16.

Jittery Over Coster-Musica Probe

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—As the government's probe into the Coster-Musica swindle progresses, Washington is all a-flutter over rumors that individuals of national official importance may prove to have been involved in the McKesson & Robbins management's activities. The names of two or three congressmen already have been whisperingly mentioned in connection with the case. Maybe these politicians, if concerned in the affair at all, were innocent dupes of the fraud syndicate. It's said to have financed a countrywide speaking tour by at least one representative, who certainly did refer flatteringly to the big but now discredited drug company.

"COSTER"

Still, he easily could have been a mere sucker. It will be damaging to him to have it shown that he was even that gullible. Nevertheless, it doesn't follow that he was guilty of anything worse than a misjudgment. Plenty of consequential Wall streeters also were fooled by the Coster-Musica artistry. They're not accused of intentional crookedness. Securities can be doctored in a fashion to deceive competent experts.

Gun-Running Different.

But if the Coster-Musica folk engaged on a large scale in foreign gun-running, that's a different proposition.

For example, how camouflage a machine guns as a dose of quinine.

It looks as if there must have been considerable winking at that sort of exports.

The war department, to be sure, has quantities of more or less obsolete weapons (obsolescent from Uncle Sam's standpoint but quite efficient in clashes between countries like Paraguay and Bolivia), which this republic is willing to dispose of for cash money—if their sale isn't in violation of our neutrality law. Yet seemingly these supposed sales and exports WERE illegal. Now, who authorized them.

The story is that Philip Musica got his start in prohibition days as a bootlegger. That doesn't particularly signify. It's a past era. We continue, through, to have a prejudice against the narcotic traffic—and the version is that Phil Musica-Coster kept it up, incoming and outgoing.

Here again:

How was the narcotic trade protected?

The Musica career independently was wonderful—

BUT—

Whom did he have to "fix" to get away with it?

Inquisitors don't incline to blame Wall Street, except as a dumbbell. They're a bit suspicious of friendly congressmen. They're more than a bit suspicious of functionaries who might have shut their eyes to narcotic shipments and they're DOWNRIGHT suspicious of those who might have acquiesced in international arms transactions.

There likewise is the possibility that some of the investigators should have done their investigating considerably sooner if they'd been adequately on the alert.

Germany and Italy.

The German press is making much of the case on the ground that such a scandal couldn't develop in the Fatherland. Things are too well managed there, according to Herr Goebbels, Fuehrer Hitler's publicity director. It's a democratic manifestation, Goebbels asserts.

The Italian newspapers are keeping quiet. Il Duce isn't in a position to say anything since the Musicas are his own born countrymen.

For that matter, they took German names when it began to be evident that they were Italians.

"No Room!"

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

NO ROOM? For hours they had sought—and now the night drew on. Black was the sky, and black the circling hills, lit only with small fires where shepherds watched their flocks. And dark the anxious hearts of two who went, knocking from door to door, in Bethlehem.

No room!

Across the desert, keened the cold night wind . . . down narrow alleys where the beggars crouched . . . past great, stone walls that rang with feast and song—for, on this day, all Israel had come to pay its tribute unto Rome.

No room!

Room for rich, the powerful and famed. But for a lowly carpenter from Nazareth—and for the gentle maid who bore his name—there was no shelter in all Bethlehem. But were they brutes—these men who cried, "No room"? Could they not see how white her face had grown . . . how low she bent upon the donkey's back . . . how wide her eyes were, with the threat of pain? Had they no pity? Surely some of them had wives . . . young wives, who, even now, drew near their hour . . .

Knock, Joseph, knock! There must be somewhere room!

* * *

AND so it was—when midnight rang—and her hard hour was passed—that Mary woke and saw she lay within a manger, heaped with hay . . . and smelled the breath of ox and ass . . . and felt, close to her side, a Little One who stirred . . . and smiled—

And all her young heart sang!

* * *

"No room! . . . NO ROOM!" Down through the nights . . . through centuries of heart-wrung, homeless nights, that cry has come. Room for the wealthy and the great . . . but no room, anywhere—on any shore—for those whose blood the young Christ Jesus bore!

"NO ROOM FOR JEWS!" And yet He was a Jew! And still we dare to call Him "Master" and to share His title—"Christ!" In "Christian Nations" on His blessed day, we, who proclaim Him, chant and pray . . . the candles shine, the bells are rung, the incense burns, the wreaths are hung.

YET FOR HIS BROTHERS THERE IS STILL NO ROOM!

What have they done, these Jews, that this should be their fate? How have they won the race's scorn and hate? They've toiled, both hard and late. They've saved their council . . . lived their prudent way—and, in our envy, we, the Christians say—

"JEW, HEAR YOUR DOOM!
"WITHIN OUR AMPLE HOUSE
"THERE IS NO ROOM
"FOR YOU OR YOURS!
"BEGONE!"

* * *

Oh God, who sent
This weary world
Your gift of Peace and joy,
Within the blessed body
Of a tiny, Jewish boy—
And chose as shining symbol
Of tender motherhood,
A simple Jewish maiden,
So gentle and so good—
Help us, today, to lighten
Their driven brethren's gloom
By swinging wide
Our loving hearts
And crying—
"HERE IS ROOM!"

Where Gifts Are Far Between

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

The Christmas spirit shines afar,
And out along the street
We shout the joy of it to friends,
Each one we chance to meet.

It's "Merry Christmas" everywhere,
At least it ought to be;
It's Christmas anyway for all.
Some sit beside a tree.

That's bright with gifts, the happier
Because love studied out
What each would like the most, and sought
These trophies around about.

It's Christmas! Do not stop at home
With giving of your gifts;
Seek out the weary and the sad,
If joy that stirs and lifts

You would have in your Christmas day.
For Christmas is but this—
The thought of the distressed; without
It Christmas you will miss.

The Christmas spirit gives where gifts
Are far between and few;
This is the spirit of the Christ
Born every year anew.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Some bald-headed men seem to have hair on the brain.

It is impossible to suppress the man who imagines he can tell a funny story.

What's Happened?

Week-End Summary of Current Events.

TWAS the week before Christmas, and all through the world people were going places for the holidays. But no traveler got more space in the newspapers than Vladimir Cyrilovitch, a young Russian from Paris, who went to visit his sisters in Germany.

In Paris, the night before he left, 5,000 former soldiers and aristocrats of imperial Russia proclaimed Grand Duke Vladimir the rightful claimant to the non-existant Russian throne, succeeding his father, Grand Duke Cyril, who died Oct. 12.

In Berlin, rumor whispered, the hefty, 6-foot, 21-year-old "Czar of all the Russias" might have a chat with Herr Hitler—who is said to be dreaming nowadays of fathering a huge Russian-populated, Nazi-dominated nation covering eastern Europe's richest oil and wheat fields.

Dream Stuff.

Hitler's dream, as described by foreign affairs experts in Washington, calls for the union of some 8,000,000 Ukrainians (Russians) in Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary and Rumania with 37,000,000 Ukrainians in southwest Russia.

The sympathy of expatriate Russians, led by Grand Duke Vladimir, could be helpful in puting such a project across. But Vladimir kept mum this week, and his friends in London pooh-poohed the suggestion that he might have a place in Hitler's plans.

Meanwhile, as Nazi-doctored news reports were being broadcast daily from Vienna in the Ukrainian language, diplomats remembered this sentence in Hitler's autobiography: "When we talk of new lands in Europe, we are bound to think first of Russia and her border states."

At Home

Congress Is Coming.

Because Congress is only 10 days away, these events were news this week:

1. Vice President Garner had a long talk with the President—and told newsmen he couldn't remember what they talked about.

2. John L. Lewis, of CIO, said there ought to be a law to make government contractors obey the Wagner Act.

3. Aubrey Williams, No. 2 man in WPA, announced that present work relief funds would last only until Feb. 7.

* * *

Medical Trust?

Voluntary health insurance plans intended to make doctor's bills less painful now exist in many cities. And only last week-end, California physicians proposed to establish a state-wide system for giving medical care to citizens paying a monthly fee of about $2.50.

But in Washington, D. C., the Group Health Association, Inc., has complained that organized physicians have hampered its activities. As a result, this week, the American Medical Association, three affiliated societies and 21 leading doctors were indicted by a federal grand jury for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

* * *

School Notes.

Princeton will conduct a $3,000 scientific investigation of the "social and psychological" aspects of the mass hysteria that followed Orson Welles' "men from Mars" broadcast. . . . Michigan State is exhibiting a seedless watermelon developed by a Chinese student.

People

Bright Boy.

Theodore Roosevelt, 'twas said, could read a book almost as fast as he could turn the pages. His grandson, Archibald B. Roosevelt, jr., 20, reads 12 languages. His Harvard professors says he frequently "cuts" classes, but he gets honor marks and is completing the four-year course in three years. Next fall he will go to Oxford University, England, as a Rhodes scholar. He passed the final examination, last week-end after dancing until 4 a. m. that morning.

* * *

Mice and Men.

In 30 years, Chicago University's Dr. Maud Slye, now white-haired and nearing 60, has kept records of cancer in 100 generations of mice—150,000 of them. Her study, she says, "has proved the hereditary factor in cancer of mice."

"Now then," Dr. Slye suggested this week, "if we could inaugurate a system of records for humans, we could over a period of years eliminate cancer because we would have the knowledge of what causes it."

Cook County (Chicago) Hospital, which handles 125 cancer cases a day, uses a record system devised by Dr. Slye. She'd like to see it adopted elsewhere.

* * *

Pippel's Case.

Walter Pippel, formerly of Hennepin County, Minn., is the ace farmer of the government-sponsored resettlement colony in Alaska's Matanuska Valley.

He's credited with making $11,000 in the last two years, but now the government wants to throw him out because he balks at selling his produce through the community's cooperative marketing association.

Abroad

Weather Report.

Icy, snow-laden winds from Siberia swept Europe this week, giving London its coldest day in 10 years and forcing King George to postpone a hunting trip.

Czecho-Slovakians, short of coal since Hitler took the Sudeten mines, shivered in temperatures ranging from 17 to 30 below. Railroad signals froze in Sweden and Norway, delaying trains. tGerman ice-breakers ran errands of mercy in the Baltic Sea. Ice jammed canals in northern France and paralyzed swinging bridges in the Netherlands.

Cold rains chilled hot-blooded Italians. At Lisbon, Portugal, 25 ferry passengers were believed drowned in the icy Tagus River. Six Hungarians were injured when cold snapped a rail and rerailed a train. France reported nine storm deaths, Britain 25, Belgium 15.

And in Spain: Snow—and, some said, a spy hunt—delayed the Insurgent drive against Barcelona.

* * *

Toward Home Fires.

Carbonia, in Italian, means coal town. At Carbonia, on Italy's island of Sardinia, Premier Mussolini made a speech last Sunday celebrating the reopening of coal deposits long abandoned because the mines had filled with water. Italians, who imported $90,892,800 worth of coal last year, hailed the reclamation project as an important step toward Fascism's goal of making the country economically self-sufficient.

In Short

Rejected: AAA's proposed 1939 marketing quotas, by growers of burley and dark type tobacco.

Recommended: By the Social Security Advisory Council, changes in the federal old-age insurance system to provide bigger payments sooner to more people.

QUOTES

Harold L. Ickes, secretary of interior: "How can any American . . . accept a decoration at the hand of a brutal dictator who, with that same hand is robbing and torturing thousands of fellow human beings? Perhaps Henry Ford and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will be willing to answer the question."

Judge Harry M. Fisher, Chisago: "Wherever crime and politics are united, it is the illegal gambling enterprise that binds them."

A Farmer's Diary

The Old Story Is Retold.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

CHRISTMAS PAST—

GRANDFATHER was very old, and I was very young. He sat beside the old black fireplace, with its flickering log, on a low, straight chair, his lean old face under its thatch of snow-white hair, bent over a stiff, black Bible.

I had had my first Christmas tree. I remember every detail of it, even to the odor of singeing pine needles and the newspapers spread on the floor beneath, to keep the dripping red wax from getting on my mother's new rag carpet. Among my gifts had been a little iron bank, shaped like a church; a red wagon about a foot long; a book of Bible stories and a warm red jacket.

I burst into the room, my arms full, to show grandpa. He smiled and took me on his knee and told me about the pictures. My parents must have been somewhere about. I don't remember.

* * *

CHRISTMAS PRESENT—

OUR four eager children are at their grandparents' home. The tree is lit with little, twinkling bulbs. There is a gleeful, noisy time, when it is unloaded. The floor is piled with vivid, rustling papers and sprinkled with seals.

Grandpa and grandma are besieged by lusty, shouting voices. After a dinner with lighted tapers and a turkey, there is a time of cozy, family visiting. Then grandma reads the Christmas story to the children. The littlest falls asleep on grandpa's lap.

* * *

CHRISTMAS TO COME—

WHEN I am old, I hope I shall see him come—my grandson, with his toys. Or if he is a girl—a chubby, rosy, healthy little girl—I shall not care. I hope I may hold him on my knee and pass on to him the old Christmas story that my grandsire so unforgettably told to me.

The holly wreath will hang in the window then—the candle will burn on the sill. The wind and snow will blow over wide fields, and smoke will curl from quiet, white-roofed farmhouses. But the warm, everliving joy of Christmas will always come, when old age and youth, together, bend their heads above the story of the Christmas Child.

7 Army Fliers, Due In N. Y. By Christmas, Die In Crash

HUGE BOMBER FALLS DURING HEAVY STORM

Crew Members Blown to Bits As Craft Explodes In Air Over Uniontown, Pa.

(By International News Service)

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Seven men who had hoped for a "happy landing" at New York by Christmas were reported dead today after a huge, U. S. army bomber crashed and exploded during a rainstorm near Uniontown late yesterday.

The explosion tore the big ship and some members of the crew aboard it to bits.

Frank Glass, an eye-witness to the air tragedy, said "the explosion was so great it lighted up the entire southern sky despite the hard rain." He said "it happened so quick" he was not sure whether the plane exploded in the air or as it struck earth.

It was in flames, however, before it hit the ground, eye-witnesses agreed.

Illuminates Town.

T. C. Langhorne, a druggist at Uniontown, said:

"The plane burst into flames and illuminated the entire town of Uniontown. It was terrible. There was a terrific explosion. The explosion was so great that telephone calls came from as far away as Demopolis, 20 miles distant asking if Uniontown had been hit by an earthquake."

Glass asserted the ship, apparently in trouble, had circled over Uniontown, approximately 70 miles west of Montgomery, a short time before. Then, flying at an altitude of 200 feet to keep below the storm, the ship plummeted in flames into a field.

Bits of wrackage and parts of bodies were scattered over a four-mile square area. Hours after the crash, only parts of five bodies had been recovered. Another body was found 250 feet from the spot where the heavy motors of the plane had buried themselves.

The hard rain, which turned the field into a sea of mud, hampered search for the bodies. Heavy army trucks were useless and wagons drawn by mules had to be used.

The plane, army officials said, had left March field, Cal., Thursday and had been due at Mitchell field, New York, by Christmas, on a routine training flight.

Defy Colds, Win Cash Prizes For Jitterbug Skill

Nothing short of a sudden attack of charlie horse could have kept ardent Mansfield swingcopators from competing for the cash prizes last night at the Ohio theater when the final competition in the Warner Brothers Ohio theater and News-Journal jitterbug contest was held. Although two out of the 10 participants had serious colds they went through the paces and came out in the first and second prize brackets.

Tony Teofilio and Betty Manning were awarded the first prize of $25, and Roy Carmel and Dorothy Barnes took second award of $15. Third prize of $10 went to Frank Stark and Mary McBride.

Those competing in the finals had all been first prize winners in the six weekly contests which preceded last night's run-off. Others participating were Pete Kaler and Frances Siweck and Harold Schnittke and Mary Bowersock. The Columbus couple, Del Thornton and Ruth Greene, were not present.

Up and Down THE STREET

The big old clock in the tower at John Simpson school is coming down fighting. Instead of just tolling the hour, it's getting in a few extra jingles these days, sounding a great deal like an alarm clock. If the 47-year-old timepiece is sad about the fact it is headed for the happy hunting grounds—or wherever it is all good clocks go—it's covering its sadness with a bit of good-natured defiance.

Hereby are extended to Harry Dennis, operator of the Coliseum, best wishes from the Three Muster-Cheers for brisk holiday roller skating business. Last Sunday, skaters stayed away in droves because they thought the Muster-Cheer show was rehearsing, though rehearsal didn't start until skating was over. Last Monday he did no business because the Coliseum was being dressed up for the dance. He did very little Tuesday, because the Coliseum was being "undressed." But there will be skating there tonight, Christmas afternoon and evening and every afternoon and evening of Christmas week—and the Muster-Cheers hope business is fine for Dennis, who took his "beating" last week without a murmur.

Santa Claus' helpers have their troubles, too. At least one did as he played the role of Santa Claus at a children's party held at a club the other night. This St. Nick made a gracious entrance into the hall where the kiddies were waiting, proudly walked up to the stage and just as he turned around to speak his mask fell off. In his attempt to make a hasty retreat, he stumbled. But, despite the giggles of the kiddies for the rest of the program, he came back to fill his job.

YULE ON STAGE

'Calling All Stars' to Play Madison Sunday, Monday.

As its Christmas treat, the Warner Brothers Madison theater is presenting on its stage tomorrow and Monday the revue "Calling All Stars" featuring a 10-piece orchestra and Armida, Mexican beauty and screen actress. This is a musical comedy revue with music, dancing and comedy dialogue, directed by Terry Rogers.

In the revue are Heller and Riley, musical comedy favorites who come to Ohio from Eastern successes; Billy Bert, Staloc brothers and Pearl, novelty acts.

Radio favorites, the Harmonica Lads directed by Carl Freed, are featured in a number of intricate and clever instrumental routines. This group has been heard frequently in the past over both the Mutual and Columbia Broadcasting systems.

In addition to the fiery Mexican actress the show is augmented by a chorus of 12 specially trained and costumed dancers.

In the confusion of the accident, a white Spitz dog belonging to Prices ran away. The car was towed to Mansfield by H. H. Herbrand, Mrs. Price's father, who drove to East Liverpool yesterday. Price is employed by the Radio Corporation of America at Harrison, N. J. Mrs. Price was the former Kathryn Herbrand of Mansfield. Both graduated from Senior high school.

Gibson, a switch operator for the Ohio Power company here, died en route to Bucyrus City hospital of a fractured skull suffered when his car skidded and struck a tree on North Sandusky street, outside the Bucyrus city limits, early today. He was alone in the car.

Born in Elyria, Nov. 3, 1916, Gibson is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ann Sica Gibson; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gibson, a brother, Leo and a sister, Miss Martha Gibson, all of Bucyrus. He was a member of Holy Trinity Catholic church. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Two married couples, one married only three days, were killed last night when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a Greyhound bus on the Dixie highway, two miles north of Lima. The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Whitesville, Ky., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schell of Portland, Ind., married only three days ago.

Mrs. Loretta Starkey, 20, of Detroit, was killed and three companions were injured when the automobile in which they were riding, struck a Chesapeake and Ohio freight train near Carey. Edward M. Locke of Cleveland was killed in a collision between two automobiles near Chardon, and Rev. Leland H. Goodman, 27, pastor of the Nelsonville Church of Christ, was fatally injured as his automobile skidded into a truck at Newark.

Ernest Green, 28, of Columbus is in General hospital here suffering from possible internal injuries received when his car struck some loose gravel on route 42, two miles north of Mansfield at 12:30 a. m. today. His condition was reported as fair. With him was Leroy Green, 20, of Columbus, who escaped injury, Highway Patrolman R. I. Governor said.

HELD FOR JURY

Young Cousins Plead Guilty to Robbery Charges.

Two Mansfield district youths were held in the county jail today under bonds of $3,000 each pending grand jury action on a charge of robbery.

Arraigned in municipal court yesterday afternoon, Jay E. Hunter, 21, R. D. 2, Mansfield and Merlin Hunter, 19, of Fifth avenue, cousins, pleaded guilty and were bound over to the grand jury.

Charges were filed by Sam Anderson, 23½ North Main street, who testified that the pair had robbed him of his clothes and other personal effects.

Anderson said that he had met the pair in a downtown restaurant and that they had asked him to go for a ride. He said they took him to a shack north of the city where they stripped him of his clothes, glasses, false teeth and a small amount of money.

Police who arrested the youths at their homes said they found Anderson's property in the youth's possession.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. MARY MACK

Kin of Loudonville Pioneers Dies In Canton at Age 74.

LOUDONVILLE — Mrs. Mary Jane Mack, who was the daughter of John and Mary Riblet Fisher, pioneer Loudonville residents, died in Canton Friday evening at the home of a daughter, Mrs. F. L. Fisher. Mrs. Mack, who was 74, had been ill only a few weeks.

Surviving are her husband, C. E. Fisher, and three sons, in addition to the daughter at whose home she died. The sons are Elbert of Loudonville and Charles and George of Alliance. Fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren also survive.

Her body has been brought to the Gilbert funeral home here, where funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday, with Rev. R. P. Liston of Canton officiating. Burial will be in Plum Run cemetery, north of Loudonville.

DAVE, DICK GLAD THEY'LL HAVE CHRISTMAS IN GOOD OLD U. S.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Well the tree is up, the wreath is on the front door and tonight we pack the youngsters off to bed early (although they won't sleep).

Tomorrow is Christmas.

Dave, "goin'-on-nine," and seven-year-old Dick this year have graduated to helping with the Christmas preparations. Their special assignment was arranging the crib with its infant and shepherds and wise men under the tree.

"Do they have cribs in all countries, mother?" Dave asked.

"No dear," mother told him, "in some countries they don't even have God any more."

Dave frowned:

"I wouldn't like that, I would rather not have Christmas than not have God.

Dick settled it.

"We can have both," he said proudly. "We're Americans."

That gave Dave an idea.

"How about putting an American flag on the tree?" he asked suddenly.

That was a new one on us and we asked what was the idea.

"Well if they don't have God in some countries any more, we ought to have a flag on our tree so that the little infant will know we want him here," he said.

Dick seconded the idea and added a thought of his own.

"I guess this is a pretty good country for kids to live in," he said. "Nobody drops bombs on us and we can have Christmas and Fourth of July and anything we want." (He had heard us discussing a bomb raid in Spain in which two children were the only victims.)

Dave reflectively moved a wise man a bit closer to the crib and stood back to study the effect.

"That's because of the constitution," he said. People can do anything or say anything they want in the United States and nobody can stop them unless they're bad. Of course, if they're bad, the G-men will stop them."

"I betcha that if somebody said we couldn't have a crib under our tree the G-men would stop them. The G-men would pull their guns and bang, bang, bang—they'd be stopped!" he said.

"That isn't it at all," Dave checked him. "Don't you see that nobody could tell us we couldn't have a crib. How could they do it—the constitution wouldn't let them. This country is different Dick."

Dick pondered that for a moment and arrived at a decision.

"It must be a good constitution," he said, "because this is a good country. I like this country. I'm glad I was borned here."

Dave added a "Me to" and then mother said "Time for bed and don't you dare open an eye until we call you in the morning."

They chorused an "O. K., mother" and bounded up the stairs.

Dave halted half-way up.

GUNS, BAYONETS MAR SANCTITY OF BETHLEHEM

Battle-Scarred Birthplace of Savior Saddened by Arab Rebellion.

(By United Press)

BETHLEHEM — Christmas pilgrims exposed temselves to Arab rebel snipers today as they plodded in brooding silence along the five-mile road from Jerusalem to Bethlehem to worship at their holiest shrine.

Once inside this city, birthplace of the Savior, they were protected by steel-helmeted British sentries, crouched behind sandbag ramparts, bayonets fixed for instant action. But around them were battle scars and an atmosphere of deep gloom. It was the third successive year that the traditional Christmas eve ceremonies at the Church of the Nativity had been sadened by the Arab rebellion.

Curfew Law Lifted.

This year the smoke-scarred facades of the police station, post office, government hospital and other buildings bore witness to recent battle. It had been only a few weeks since British soldiers recaptured the city from rebels and only last night for the first time in two months, was the curfew law lifted by special order of the British commander-in-chief.

There were fewer pilgrims this year, especially from outside Palestine, but those who did keep the tradition made the five mile journey as usual, afoot, riding on donkeys and mules or in horse-drawn carriages.

The rebel headquarters at Nablus had promised in a manifesto that an armistice would be observed during the Christian holidays "provided British troops refrain from taking the offensive," but the military patrol didn't relax its vigil.

An armored car escort accompanied the Roman Catholic patriarch, Monseigneur Barlassina, and his entourage, on the customary solemn entry into Bethlehem to prepare for tonight's midnight mass.

Outside Rachel's tomb, at the entrance to Bethlehem, all pilgrims were halted and searched. Their baggage was ransacked. Any of them carring arms had to produce permits.

M. A. KELL DIES

Lexington Man Headed Hardware Business 45 Years.

LEXINGTON—Marshall A. Kell, 74, a retired hardware merchant, died at his home here Friday night after an illness of two years. He was born on a farm three miles south of Lexington, Sept. 20, 1864, the son of William and Elizabeth Kell, and spent his entire life in this vicinity.

Mr. Kell was the senior member of the Kell Bros. Hardware company until his retirement three years ago. He was associated with the hardware business in Lexington 45 years.

Funeral services will be held at the late home at 2 p. m. Monday with Rev. Glenn Sauder of the Lexington Presbyterian church officiating. Burial will be in the Lexington cemetery.

ALBERT MARTIN SUCCUMBS AT 66

Native of City Dies After Long Illness; Funeral Monday.

Albert Martin, 66, died at his home, 70 Lexington avenue, Friday evening after a lingering illness. He was born in Mansfield, Oct. 18, 1872, and spent his entire life here.

Surviving are his wife, Ida; a daughter, Mrs. Esley Cleckner of Mansfield; a son, William of Cleveland; a sister, Mrs. Otis Sowash of Mansfield, and a brother, Henry of Akron. He was a member of the St. John Evangelical church and Mansfield lodge, 34, F. & A. M.

Services will be held at the Wappner funeral home at 1 p. m. Monday with Rev. Paul Saleste of the St. John Evangelical church officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. The body will be at the home until Monday morning.

Not That It Matters

Christmas Column Done Under Unusual Pressure, But With Same Old Wish

—By JANE WILLIAMS

MEDITATIONS on Merry Christmas at 5 o'clock in the Morning: Tried to write this last night at the Muster-Cheers' office in the Farmers Bank building, but the loudspeaker across the street carried the Christmas carols and hymns and they were so nice and sent such Christmasy thrills up and down the tired vertebrae that I gave up all idea of work and just sat and enjoyed them.

A fool for Christmas...It began years ago when the World's Best Parents spent much more than they could afford, to make the day a glorious one...And what a day it was...Which is why I get cramps around my heart when I think of the kids who don't have trees and candy canes and dolls and little dishes.

A fool for Christmas...If I worked until I fell apart in sheer weariness up until Christmas Eve, I'd still get the Biggest Kick out of it, because it's the most thrilling day of the whole year.

Maybe it's because I still believe in Santa Claus. (Though there were times this week when I wished that he'd fall and break his dam' neck.)

* * *

I'D have to believe in Santa Claus. Because, without letting any of my fellow workers in the Three Muster-Cheers or my boss know anything about it, I spent $134 more than we had, for groceries, but I had a secret convictim that good old Saint Nick would do something about it.

And he did. Money came in until now we're only about $24 in debt.

(The Head of the Williams Tribe said he devoutly wished I'd bring my faith in Santa Claus to bear on personal affairs.)

* * *

DID all my Christmas shopping in an hour and ten minutes Friday night. And I bought quite a few things. It was simple. I'd just stop at a counter and say: "Gimme this. I'll take that and that and throw in that doo-dad there, and please wrap 'em up in lots of blue and silver and red ribbons." Was momentarily halted when the Clerk with No Intuition insisted on showing me white shirts and dark ties for my Pappy when he will wear nothing but O. O. McIntyre shirts and ties that give you eye-strain; while he brought out pink and lavender shirts for the Head of the Tribe and HE prefers the standard Undertaker type of haberdashery.

* * *

KEPT thinking of things on the run, things I should have done before, that I still had to do somehow . . . Sent best love in a telephone call to Phyllis Oster, who is desperately ill in an Akron sanitarium; sent a telegram greeting to a friend in California whom I'd had forgotten in the rush . . . Funny how we always forget the friends we care most for . . . But somehow there wasn't time nor energy for everything . . .

A telephone call from Louis and Mary Bromfield who have just returned to Oberlin from New York . . . And one at midnight from a boy in Washington, D. C. who served a term in Mansfield Reformatory and who wanted me to know of his new job and that my faith in him several years ago had not been misplaced . . .

* * *

CALLED The Boss and asked could I please skip a column this week and he merely recited "The show must go on"...or words to that effect.

Never did this column more appropriately live up to its name . . . But then it's Six Bells and you can't write a Literary Gem in an hour with a Tough Day ahead of you . . .

Anyway, tonight will be Christmas Eve, and there will be lights a-glitter, gay, hurrying crowds, kids a-jitter at the proximity of Santa Claus, and everyone calling back over their shoulders in passing:

"Merry, merry Christmas!"

Which was what I was leading up to all the time.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Many Not Subtle Enough To Realize Disrupting Influences From Berlin

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—It was J. B. Matthews, an early witness before the Dies committee, who popularized the term "fellow traveler," thus meeting the need for a convenient descriptive label for those who call themselves progressives, New Dealers and the like, but, openly or secretly, indorse the Stalin dictatorship as the greatest experiment ever made for human betterment.

The expression was not original, being already familiar in the Communist press and in those butchers' paper magazines which also profess to be progressive but are "fellow travelers" themselves. But the public had not heard of it, and Matthews put it into the American language on the authority of one who had been a "fellow traveler" himself, but, for reasons of his own, had backslid.

* * *

A "fellow traveler," said he, is one who gets along faithfully, but without acquiring formal membership in the Communist party, and thus is able to enter and work for the cause in organizations which would either exclude or smother the work of an avowed Communist.

It is a pat expression widely used now, and it need not be cheapened or discredited by misuse if it be reserved discriminatingly for those who passionately oppose dictatorship, brutality and the denial of human rights in Germany and Jersey City, but cannot be persuaded to say a word against the great Russian experiment.

* * *

The same tag is hardly appropriate, however, for those who are, less consciously, "fellow travelers" of the Nazi-Fascists. There is a need of some equivalent term for this element, and necessity may do her stuff in time, but, while we are waiting, it can do no harm to observe the straying of many who believe themselves to be true, patriotic Americans into un-American—in fact, anti-American—associations and habits.

The Dies committee hearings produced the names of many organizations, all high sounding, which arouse the hearth-and-home instinct of the easily alarmed and commit them to purposes which are no less dangerous than Communism to the Americanism which at heart they love.

There are two main sources of infection—Moscow and Berlin—but still there are Americans who are not subtle enough to realize that Berlin is just as eager and energetic as Moscow to disrupt this people, equally hostile to the American form of government and the life of the nation.

There is an important difference between the Communists and their "fellow travelers" and those gullible fall-guy patriots who serve the Nazi-Fascist conspiracy. The Communist and the "fellow traveler" know what they are doing, but the fall guys not only don't know that Berlin is attacking American unity through them but would resent being told that they are stupid enough to be so used.

Yet, it should be plain enough, considering that the American atmosphere was free of this propaganda three years ago and that the agitation and the organization of hate groups among the American people date distinctly from that day when Hitler's newspapers warned the Americans that Germany might take an interest in our internal affairs which would be unpleasant. That threat is now being carried out.

But, dangerous to freedom as this agitation is, the Americans who lend themselves to the anti-American purposes of Berlin cannot accurately be called "fellow travelers of the axis." They are and yet they aren't.

They serve an enemy just as brutal and implacable, as cunning and treacherous, but, unlike the Communists and their "fellow travelers," they are unaware of foreign inspiration.

Yesterday Afternoon's Bride

CHRISTMAS BUSTLE SLOWS UP GROUPS

Fewer Organizations Schedule Affairs for Week Between Holidays; Our Club, University Men Arrange Dances.

By FRANCES E. GENSLEY

WAIT A MINUTE, please! Where's everybody going? Yes, of course, it is the day before Christmas, and we know that everybody is much too busy getting the "stockings hung by the chimney with care" to stop long enough to talk about what's going on next week. Sure, we know that you don't feel as though you wanted to do a thing all next week but rest and relax, but remember those program committees laid their plans back in July when things were pretty quiet, and they sort of forgot about how fagged one feels on Dec. 27.

Still with the Christmas shopping all done, and the larder filled with a variety of tempting foods maybe you can take a minute to look over the week's calendar with us now.

Looking Over the Week's Calendar

The only thing we can tell you about that happened last night is the merry dance given by Beta Sigma Phi girls at the hotel. And there was the pretty pre-Christmas wedding of Miss Edna Bookwalter and Marvin Stevens yesterday afternoon, too.

Christmas day is reserved for all kinds of family festivities this year, and most everybody including you, and you, and you has a splendid party planned. So much then for the yuletide observance at home, for Monday swings right out with a couple of club parties being set.

Monday

As is customary with the folks who belong to the Our club, there will be a Christmas supper-dance Dec. 26 at the Mansfield-Leland. Although the cold germs (treacherous microscopic beasts) have slipped in and infected the committee with the sniffles, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Weamer, co-chairmen for the affair, disclose that all arrangements have been made. Other committee members are Mr. and Mrs. Lydon Beam, Mr. and Mrs. Avery Hand and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herring.

One of Mansfield's most active patriotic organizations is all set to have a Christmas party Monday night, too. That is the members of the Mary B. Mitchell Tent No. 40, Daughters of Union Veterans, have planned a celebration at Memorial hall. Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, Mrs. Allie Garrett, Mrs. Alice Oster and Mrs. Bertha Droz are taking care of the details along with their own holiday preparations.

Tuesday

Chi Sigma sorority members (one of the most active group of girls in the city, without a doubt) have found time to entertain at a guest party Tuesday night. Miss Mary Strater was saying the other day that she, and other members of the committee were trying to work out a New Year theme for the celebration which is to be held at the hotel.

Other committee members are Miss Mary Elizabeth Miller, Miss Ruth Zelenka, Miss Naomi Stutz, Miss Florence Nail and Mrs. Harold Amsbaugh.

American Legion Bridge club members will assemble at the gaily decorated home for a few rubbers of bridge, and the Ruth Sewing circle will also have a session at the temple Tuesday afternoon. Cyane club members are all set for a progressive party which Miss Viola Fulmer is arranging.

Wednesday

Two grand sounding parties are set for Wednesday when both members of the Journey club and those of Alpha Pi Sigma will do some entertaining. The study club will entertain husband of members at a dinner bridge at the hotel, while the sorority members have a buffet-supper and gift exchange at the same place. Mrs. Ralph Andregg and Mrs. Raymond Beal are in charge of the latter affair.

A routine meeting is scheduled for the Women of the Moose, and the McLaughlin Relief corps will have installation at the Memorial building. In addition several small club are planning bridge and card sessions.

Thursday

Has everyone suddenly become tired out again or are the folks resting up for the New Year's parties? Aside from the family covered-dish dinner which the Women's Auxiliary to the Railway Mail Association has scheduled at North Lake park Thursday night there are only two social card clubs meeting that day.

Friday

Excitement looms high in both the college and alumni set though, for Friday night the University club will entertain with its annual Christmas dance. In addition to all the town university and college men who attend the affairs, a number of college lads home on vacation will be present to exhibit some of the latest dance steps to their elders.

Lloyd Brown and Tom Ford are in charge of arrangements, and they have engaged Herschel Stayton and his orchestra from Wooster for the formal event.

Nobody has yet explained just where members of the Art Study club get the energy to carry forth their numerous projects and programs, but their club booklet does tell us that they're meeting on Friday. Mrs. D. R. Talbot, Mrs. Boyd Wierman and Miss Marjorie Campbell are the hostesses.

Saturday

New Year's Eve! The night of all the year when everybody does something. In a city of this size private parties are the most important form of entertainment, but many of the folks who went away for the holidays will be seeing the old year out, or the new one in, as you choose, at smart supper clubs, hotels and night spots in a dozen cities.

The occasion of occasions in Mansfield is the brilliant Our club New Year's Eve supper-dance which will be held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Arrangements for the swank celebration are being made by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hartman and Martin Wolf.

So Merry Christmas to you all.

Class Teacher Has Party For Church Organization

Miss Romaine Schmidt, who is the teacher of the Helping Hands class of St. Mark's Lutheran church, entertained that group with a Christmas party at her home on North Bowman street yesterday evening. Miss Mary Katherine Stevenson, president of the class, conducted the business meeting, and Miss Schmidt read the devotions.

Games were played during the meeting with prizes going to Miss Stevenson and Miss Dorothy Henry. Miss Corrine Gerhart played a piano solo, and the group had a gift exchange. Luncheon was served at small tables, and the meeting was closed with the singing of Christmas carols by the entire class.

Class Celebrates With Evening Social Affair

Seven Circle class of the East Mansfield United Presbyterian church met at the home of William Jordan for a Christmas party yesterday evening. Clarence Bird, assistant teacher of the class, was in charge of the business meeting.

The group played games and had a Christmas exchange during the evening. Later they sang Christmas carols, and Ernest Lee played several numbers on the guitar. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Miss Ina Weatherbie and Mr. Bird.

* * *

CHRISTMAS PARTY.

Two plays, "Christmas" and "The King of the East" were presented at the Caesarea church, near Little Washington, last evening as a part of the Sunday school Christmas program. Miss Mary Frances Finley and Rev. Arthur Mellick, pastor of the church, participated in the later play, while nine young children of the church were in the former. Miss Flo Mellick, Rev. Mellick's sister, gave a Christmas talk, and the program was concluded with the singing of carols.

Co-eds Home; Couple Will Celebrate Monday; Club Leader

Mrs. Warren Fort, above, president of one of Mansfield's most active organizations, the Art Study club, was on the committee of the party the group gave last Friday at the North Lake park pavilion for 20 youngsters. The affair was a luncheon, program and presentation of gifts around the tree.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Barr, above, will be celebrating their golden wedding anniversary Christmas Monday at their home, 340 Lexington avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Barr were married Dec. 26, 1888, at the home of Mrs. Barr's parents. The couple will receive their friends between 2 and 5 and 7 and 9 p. m. Monday.

* * * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Barr To Celebrate Wedding Anniversary Dec. 26

WHEN Christmas Monday rolls around it will be cause for a double celebration in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Barr, 340 Lexington avenue, who will observe their golden wedding anniversary with an open house Dec. 26 from 2 to 4 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. at their residence.

The couple was married 50 years ago Dec. 26 at the home of Mrs. Barr's parents. Mrs. Barr, formerly Mary Louella Verbick, came to Mansfield from Jacobsberg with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Verbick in 1874. Mr. Barr, who was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Barr, was born in the old Wiler house which occupied the site on which the Bird and Grant buildings now stand, in 1863.

Mr. Barr is the grandson of John Jacob Wiler, one of the early pioneer settlers of Mansfield. Before the days of the railroad in 1878, Mr. Barr with his father and brother went overland from Salt Lake to Walla Walla, Wash. by covered-wagon and ox team taking 28 days to cover a distance of 540 miles. They staked a claim to 160 acres of land which they remained on for four years. From this property they took $1,000 worth of timber, and cleared 60 acres for farm land. Mr. Barr still owns this property.

M. Barr is now 75 years old and Mrs. Barr is 70. The couple who have four children and three grandchildren will leave Dec. 29 for their home in Florida. Mr. Barr, prior to his retirement, was in the contracting business.

Their children are Lloyd S. Barr and Mrs. John S. Brant of Mansfield, Mrs. P. M. Shanibarger of Pine Castle, Fla., and John L. Barr of Massillon. The grandchildren are Jack, Mary and Jean Shanibarger.

C. B. Tingley is the only person who attended the wedding 50 years ago who is now living.

TWO-DAY VACATION PROMOTES TRAVEL

Mansfielders Go to Distant and Nearby Cities to Celebrate Christmas; Others Arrive Here to Visit Friends, Relatives.

THE town is literally humming with more excitement every minute as out-of-town guests arrive in the city for the holidays, and Mansfielders leave for other cities to celebrate the double holiday. Tinsel and lights, luggage and last-minute shopping all seem to be blended into a gay holiday spirit in spite of the lack of snow.

Mrs. Gump Hostess to Friends at Dinner Party

Mrs. Ethel Gump entertained 18 guests with a Christmas party at her home on South Mulberry street yesterday evening. The group met at 6 o'clock for a covered-dish dinner and Christmas exchange. Mrs. Albert Gump and Mrs. Edward Burghard were associate hostesses for the affair.

Card games and contests were the diversions of the evening, with Miss Helen Dartman, Miss Urith Funston, Mrs. Mae Stimens, and Mrs. Albert Gump receiving the high score prizes. Master Eugene Gump sang several Christmas carols for the group. Mrs. Albert Gump played the piano accompaniment.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Mawhorr, R. D. 2, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Helen Pauline, to Milo C. Cocanour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Cocanour, R. D. 1. The ceermony was performed Oct. 27 at Covington, Ky. by Rev. John L. Tilton of the Methodist church there. They are staying with Mrs. Cocanour's parents at the present.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Kirkpatrick of Syracuse, N. Y., arrived in Mansfield yesterday to spend the holidays with Mrs. Kirkpatrick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gilkison, 571 Springmill street.

The poinsettia is one of the loveliest Christmas gifts when supplied in a gayly colored pot, and tied with a ribbon and a sprig of holly.

Notice was received today that Mrs. Roeliff Brinkerhoff, 35 Bartley avenue, is holidaying in New York, N. Y., where she was joined by Mrs. Mary B. Gilbert, also of the Bartley avenue address, Bentley and Henry Gilbert.

Best news of the year according to Richard L. Remy, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Remy, 156 Lexington avenue, was the announcement of a position in New York. Richard, who is a senior at Ohio State university at Columbus, will be employed by the Arthur Anderson company doing field work for credit toward his business degree. He'll be leaving for the east Tuesday or Wednesday after Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Matthes, Toledo, are visiting Mrs. Matthes' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klohs, 136 Parkwood boulevard.

Another Toledo visitor in Mansfield is Mrs. C. H. Stevens who is visiting her sisters, Miss Helen Hurst and Mrs. J. B. Lindley, Columbia avenue.

Miss Edith Reed, Augustine avenue, left for Columbus yesterday forenoon to join a group of Ohio State university students who went to Chicago by plane to attend several collegiate functions.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hauserman, 508 South Main street, will spend part of the Christmas holidays with Bill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hauserman, Blanche street. They will motor to Athens on Christmas morning to spend the inter-holiday week with Mrs. Hauserman's mother and sister.

Dale Channell, Rowland avenue, left yesterday for the Plains where he will spend the holidays with his mother. His brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Channell, Atcheson avenue, are joining him in the southern Ohio community for the week-end.

Arriving home today to spend the Christmas holiday with their parents and sister are Robert Kelley, Boston, Mass., and John Kelley, Springfield, Mass. Both Robert and John, sons of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kelley, West Third street, are employed by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company in the east. Their sister, Miss Jane Kelley, is home from Marygrove college in Detroit, Mich.

* * *

MEET FRIDAY.

Plans were made to hold installation of officers Jan. 13 when members of the Lady Owls met at the Owl home on North Main street last night for a routine business meeting. Mrs. James White was in charge. There will be an entertainment and refreshments following the installation.

* * *

Raymond Boyer, sophomore at Idaho State university, arrived in Mansfield yesterday to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Boyer, 4 Remy avenue. Miss Harriett Boyer, and Marion Boyer are coming down from Cleveland today to spend the two-day vacation with their parents also.

Marriage of Last Sunday Announced Here Today

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Glenn, have announced the marriage of Miss Nancy Ascnath to their son, Chester H. Glenn. The bride is the daughter of A. V. Hockensmith of Adario.

The couple was married last Sunday morning at the parsonage of the church at Shenandoah. The bride was graduated from Weller high school, and groom from Adario high school. Mr. Glenn is now employed at the Westinghouse Manufacturing company, and so he and his wife will reside in this city.

* * *

PLAY CARDS.

Mrs. John Scott was hostess to members of the Allegro club Thursday when they played cards at her home on East First street. Prizes were won by Mrs. Russell Moore, Mrs. John Schmidt, Mrs. Raymond Selby and Mrs. William Mace. A Christmas exchange followed the play, and it was announced that Mrs. Selby will entertain Jan. 5.

* * *

POSTPONEMENT.

The meeting of the Welfare club has been postponed until Jan. 11. Mrs. Earl Giffin, 117 Rae avenue, will entertain, it was announced this morning.

Elect Mrs. Fink Head of O. H. O. Social Club

Mrs. John Fink was elected to the presidency of the O. H. O. club yesterday at a luncheon meeting held at the home of Mrs. Frank Brannon, West Fourth street road. Mrs. George Brooker was elected secretary-treasurer.

The hostess used Mexican appointments on a table centered with a Christmas tree for the serving of luncheon, after which the group had a gift exchange. Prize winners in the contests were Mrs. Fink, Mrs. William Birmelin, Mrs. L. Armstrong and Mrs. Sherman Stone. The members also knotted a comfort for charity.

The next meeting will be a guest dinner Jan. 5 at North Lake park pavilion.

Name Mrs. Beelman to Post In Junior Club

Mrs. Clarence Beelman was elected installing officer of the Sarah E. Lewis Junior club No. 20 at the regular business meeting of that group in Memorial hall yesterday afternoon. The date of installation will be announced at the next regular meeting on Jan. 13.

Miss LaVada Williams, president of the organization, conducted the business session, after which the group filled a Christmas basket, had a gift exchange, and sang carols.
